Coming to Eastern with individual and diverse expectations, we, the students, were still one in that we shared a common environment. Eastern added to each life a spark of excitement with the beauty of each season. The blending of nature's gifts with man's technical knowledge added to the campus a feeling of permanence.

Through a blend of campus surroundings and the traditional classroom we made an attempt to fulfill our academic expectations. Professors and students had much to offer in opening new realms of knowledge. Not only did the student learn from the classroom but he also learned more about himself.

"If your everyday life seems poor to you," writes Rilke, "do not accuse it; accuse yourself, tell yourself you are not poet enough to summon up its riches . . ."

And if life seemed poor to a student at Eastern, then that student had no one to accuse but himself, for riches were here for those who would look. A student had only to involve himself — with friends, with teachers, in sports, in theater, in fraternities, even in classes.

Through this involvement, students found true that paradox which so pervades life: the more they gave of themselves, the more they had to keep.

"Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm."

—Emerson

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages
hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood,
and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

—Robert Frost

Students took many paths to get to Eastern, and when they got here found many other paths to follow. They also found many people to lead them down these paths — teachers, advisors, administrators. Eventually these paths ended; the leaders could lead no further. And that is when these students found out what education was — the process by which they gained the ability to make their own roads.

Living and learning — that phrase, often heard at Eastern, implies a separation where there is none. Living is learning, and not all learning is done in the classroom. "We cannot learn men from books," says Disraeli. We learn people from other people. That is the most meaningful part of education at Eastern — what we learn of people through the relationships and friendships we form.

Our conduct is influenced not by our experience but by our expectation of life.

—George Bernard Shaw

STUDENT LIFE

Your college days should be lived to the fullest, but keep in mind the purpose of college — to learn

Moving In: A Hectic Experience

After traveling long hours with a carload of clothes, books and other necessities, students arrived to fill the dormitory rooms. For freshmen it was a new experience but for most upper classmen it was a headache. Standing in long lines to receive room keys, linens and roommate assignments added to the day's frustration. With the aid of friends and parents, students finally got their room in order and settled down for the fall semester. Another problem students had to deal with was the lack of parking space around the dorms. Spaces close to the dorm entrances were at a premium and those that arrived early were afforded the choice locations.

RIGHT: A chance to socialize before the busy semester begins, but only with students whose last names begin with the same letter as yours. BELOW: Long lines have long been associated with registration. The mood fluctuates with the weather. OPPOSITE TOP: Almost to the end. The inevitable forms must all be filled in by this time. OPPOSITE LOWER LEFT: "Initial and move on down the line. There are more stops to make." OPPOSITE LOWER RIGHT: Any space that's convenient serves as a place to fill out forms. Lots of paper work makes for a lot of anxiety.

REGISTRATION

"Where do I go now?" "Separate your cards by color and make sure that you've signed each on the back." "I'm sorry, but that class is closed."

Phrases like these befuddled students during registration. Long lines often made for short tempers, but if students could tolerate the inconvenience for a half a day, they emerged from the coliseum with a new schedule. It may not have been the one they originally planned; it may not have lasted the semester without changes, but for each student who endured the process, the end of registration meant the beginning of relief.

New Open House Proves Successful

For those who were lucky enough to have friends of the opposite sex, open house was a convenient privilege; and it became even more convenient this year with the liberalizing of the old open house policy.

Open house hours were increased to 16, and whether students used these extra hours to play cards, watch television, study, or whatever, they generally welcomed the change.

Other rules were changed; doors were not required to be kept open, for instance, guaranteeing students privacy that is often hard to find at the University.

These changes, however, did not prevent the moments of embarrassment or hilarity that open house often affords—those times when a forgetful student let open house hours slip his mind, and found himself scampering to his room, looking as if he were trying to revive the streaking fad.

Despite these occasional inconveniences, though, most students saw the open house changes as improvements, and hoped for more improvement in the years ahead.

OPPOSITE TOP: To find a convenient place to study together is one task solved by the new rules. Open house provides a profitable study time for Kerry Moore and Sharon Wells. OPPOSITE BOTTOM: At Commonwealth these students relax while playing a game of cards as a welcome change to the daily routine. TOP: Instead of going out for refreshment, Shelly Stanbaugh and Mike Morris decide to fix a pitcher of lemonade while enjoying the freedom evoked by the new policy. BOTTOM: This coed finds the comfort of her room the best place to study.

Summer Time Adds Life to Campus

Eastern's campus during the summer is a busy but refreshing place. With the lively green trees in bloom it is the perfect setting for work and leisure. Students participating in Upward Bound for the summer got a chance to live away from home and attend classes in a collegiate atmosphere.

Seminars, clinics, and conferences also allowed adults and students an opportunity to acquire new skills and talents. The climax of the summer came when graduating students received their diplomas.

TOP: Observers watch as a fellow beekeeper demonstrates the proper technique of removing honey cones. LEFT: Graduation is exciting for the graduate but for family members the evening takes its toll especially on those younger ones. ABOVE: A graduate checks to make sure it's her name printed on the diploma.

The Working Student: A Busy Life

With the steadily increasing inflation rate making today's economic pinch that much tighter, many students were faced with the prospect of working while attending college. Some students turned to institutional on-campus jobs, while others went off campus to seek employment.

The several fast-food chains on the Eastern By-Pass supplied an almost unlimited source of employment for EKV students. Even though students found that their jobs were a drain on their precious time, they also found that those same college jobs would help them establish themselves in the job market of tomorrow.

TOP: Senior Ed Graves checks over the stocking situation in the frozen foods department at Richmond's IGA. As night manager he must also make sure it's all accounted for accurately. RIGHT: Lisa Earlywine lays out advertisements for the Richmond Register as a part-time job.

LEFT: A junior from Hoboken, N. J., Howard Figueroa works as an assistant custodian at Britts Department Store in Richmond, Ky. BOTTOM: Working at a pizza carry-out sometimes means more than just delivering pizzas. Mark Williams gets into the other aspects of the pizza business.

When a typical student goes away to college, the parting words are often something like, "If you can make it through registration, you can make it through anything." Oddly enough, those very words were told to at least one physically handicapped student. And for a while, he believed them. But nobody said anything about climbing steps which can seemingly go on forever. To others, they are merely steps. Like the ones outside of the Wallace Building. "A piece of cake," you say nonchalantly. Try going up backwards, maybe even with a backpack full of books. To make things really interesting, add a thin sheet of ice. It is the physically handicapped student's nightmare. Nobody said much about the showers, either. But when you leave a pair of crutches on the outside, how can you be expected to stand on the inside with no bars? Pray for a miracle? Nah. That went out with charismatic preachers. Ask the University to do something, maybe? Possibly. But no matter how many ramps, elevators, or whatever else are installed, the most important aid has nothing at all to do with architecture.

It's an attitude of helpfulness and understanding, which, thank goodness, is plainly evident here at the University. Without it, the handicapped student is forced to face a nearly impossible barrier.

With it, however, he or she can, as Gail Rose Bennett once wrote, "transform every stumbling block into a stepping stone."

Handicapped — The Dilemmas

LEFT: Though handicapped that doesn't mean freshman Brian Blair cannot get around with but a minimal amount of difficulty. BELOW: With very few books available in braille Gayle Stamps has willing students come and help her by reading books. This book written in braille helps Gayle study for her lessons in history.

Lambda Chi Bust Attracts Students

The Lambda Chi Alpha "Watermelon Bust," which was held on September 21st, brought "seedy" excitement to the campus. Teams from various Greek and independent co-ed groups participated in the bust. A greased melon relay, seed spitting, watermelon rolling, and watermelon eating contest were a few of the many games offered by the sponsors of the bust.

Sigma Chi's Derby Day

"A Touch of Class"

"A Touch of Class" was the theme of this year's Sigma Chi Derby, which brought a week of activity to the campus.

Celebrations began early in the week when eight competing sororities displayed pep banners and led cheers in the East Tennessee pep rally. Later in the week, the Sigma Chi members dodged sorority girls in the "Derby Chase."

The Derby was held at the Sigma Chi chapter house. Events like "Creamy Dream," "Zipper Stripper," and "Pig Pen" had the sororities competing with all the enthusiasm they could muster.

Participating for the first time, the sorors of Alpha Kappa Alpha took first place.

ABOVE: The "Creamy Dream" draws smiles from everyone at this year's Sigma Chi Derby. They went on to win the overall trophy.

ΣΑΕ Hosts Annual County Fair

The 9th annual Sigma Alpha Epsilon County Fair was held this year on September 29. Several fraternities and sororities sponsored booths and competed in the events.

The rope walk was a popular booth along with the swingsponge booth and the basketball toss booth. Events such as the stiltwalk, the cider chug, the checkers championship and the cigarette rolling contest also challenged competitors. Winning the overall sorority trophy was Alpha Gamma Delta. Sigma Pi won the fraternity trophy.

TOP: These pledges graciously offered their services as targets. As part of their initiation they sat, while people who paid for the chance lobbed eggs at them. TOP RIGHT: The start of the stiltwalk required some teamwork as here one KD plays squire, helping her friend mount the stilts. RIGHT: A cider chugging match was hotly contested. Here two competitors come up for air while a third keeps on chugging.

Rush: A Time Of Apprehension

Rush week started the year off at Eastern with a whirl of parties. Girls chose the sorority they wanted to join; sororities chose the girls they wanted as members.

Greek Rush 1978, like rush in the past, was characterized by many get acquainted parties, and then preference parties marked the beginning of the more serious business of the selection process.

Rush also gave rushees a chance to meet new friends from the different sororities on campus. Although the week was very nerve wracking and frustrating, each girl gained knowledge of the sorority systems on campus.

Spirit of Homecoming Begins With Parade

Preparation for Homecoming '78 began months in advance of the big day. Plans for floats and dorm decorations, the long hours of practice for those performing in the parade: all had to be completed.

The week before Homecoming was hectic as the plans were executed. Students spent long hours hammering, stuffing, and painting parade floats, sandwiching their studies in between everything that needed to be done. Happily mid-terms were out of the way and was one thing that didn't need to be worried about.

At last, Homecoming Day dawned warm and bright. Everything, including the parade, was beautiful as a result of the hard work by those involved.

Movie Magic Begins Successful Weekend

Disco was definitely on the scene in 1978, and the Homecoming dance proved it. Decked with glittering stars above the dance floor and a lighted sign outside displaying the theme "Movie Magic", the Keen Johnson Building was transformed into a reasonable imitation of a disco. The formal mid-fall dance allowed people to mingle and also gave Homecoming judges the opportunity to become more familiar with the contestants. A disc jockey played records for the dance which took place on the Friday night before the game. After several hours of music and dancing participants left the dance feeling Eastern would have a successful Homecoming weekend.

TOP: An antique car lends a '30's touch to the Keen Johnson Building on the night of the Homecoming dance. RIGHT: Homecoming Queen contestants dance with their escorts beneath the glitter of the stars hanging from the ceiling of the Keen Johnson Building.

On November 4, Leon Redbone appeared in Brock Auditorium to present the opening Homecoming concert. Redbone became known to most people in his appearance on "Saturday Night Live". Eastern students were attracted to the concert by the distinctively mellow and rumbling voice of Redbone as he sang the old standard song "Shine on Harvest Moon".

Spectators of the concert received a refreshing, funny and colorful engagement. Another concert attraction during the Homecoming festivities was Evelyn "Champagne" King. Ms. King also presented to ECU a variety of disco music to complement her mellow voice. To enhance her performance she also had very talented background vocals. Both of these talented performers made the Homecoming weekend very memorable.

TOP: Leon Redbone accompanies himself on the guitar as he entertains during Homecoming week. The diversity of his act seemed to please his listeners on a personal basis. ABOVE: Evelyn Champagne King uses harmony to satisfy the audience with her smooth silky disco sound. She entertained the audience with her hit single "Shame".

Homecoming '78

Unseasonably warm weather set the stage for Eastern's 1978 Homecoming. School spirit, building all week, ran especially high under the cloudless blue sky, with a sun hot enough to burn the keyed-up crowd.

The Colonels did their best, too, to make Homecoming what it should be, winning over Murray's Racers 24-20. A near record-breaking 99 yard kick-off return by the Colonels added extra excitement for students and returning alumni.

These things added up to make Homecoming '78 a movie-maker's fantasy. And what more apt way could there be to express the theme of "Movie Magic"?

TOP: White, gold and maroon flags fluttering in the breeze add some extra flash to the band performance. RIGHT: The Begley building filled with the Homecoming crowd looms over the Marching Maroons.

1978 Homecoming Queen

Martha Taglauer

A beautiful autumn day set the mood for Eastern's football game and crowning of the 1978 Homecoming Queen. Miss Martha Taglauer, a senior majoring in interior design, is from Fort Wright, Kentucky. Martha is president of Kappa Delta sorority and was sponsored by that sorority. She is also a member of the American Society of Interior Designers and is a Phi Delta Theta little sister. Martha enjoys swimming, volleyball and lifeguarding. Future plans for the 21-year old Miss Taglauer include becoming an interior designer and to work with an architectural firm.

First Runner-Up

Cheryl Frazier

20 year-old Cheryl Frazier, a sophomore from Louisville, Kentucky, was sponsored by Palmer Hall. Cheryl is majoring in Police Administration with a minor in Corrections. Among other activities, she is a Kappa Alpha fraternity little sister, she serves on Walters Hall House Council, and acts as sergeant-at-arms for the Association of Law Enforcement. Some of Cheryl's interests are swimming, running, racquetball and tennis.

Second Runner-Up

Jennifer Dyer

Sponsored by the Seventh Wonders, sophomore Jennifer Dyer is majoring in Pre-Pharmacy. Jennifer, 18 years old is from Albany, Kentucky. She is at Eastern on a basketball scholarship and is a member of the Seventh Wonders. Along with playing basketball she also participates in the Caduceus Club and intramural activities. Jennifer enjoys softball, water skiing, jogging and cooking.

Attendants

RIGHT: Sponsored by Keene Hall, sophomore Aletha Sizemore's major is nursing. Aletha is active in the Alpha Delta Pi sorority and enjoys writing and traveling. LEFT: A sophomore medical technology major, Crystal Williams was sponsored by O'Donnell Hall. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority, and an ECU cheerleader. BOTTOM: General Business major Kim Montgomery enjoys swimming and gymnastics. She was sponsored by Todd Hall and is a Sigma Chi Little Sister.

Attendants

Attendants

RIGHT: A nursing major from California, Kentucky, junior Cheryl Griesinger was sponsored by Burnam Hall. Cheryl is attending Eastern on a Presidential Scholarship, and is a member of the Student/Faculty Board of Nursing. BELOW: Freshman Judy Meiman enjoys tennis and racquetball. She is a resident assistant and is a member of the house council. She was sponsored by Commonwealth Hall. BOTTOM: Walters Hall sponsored Kim Garr. Kim is a Medical Laboratory major and is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Attendants

TOP: Sigma Alpha Epsilon Sweetheart Bonnie Campbell, a senior from Louisville, is majoring in Police Administration and Industrial Security. Bonnie was sponsored by Telford Hall. ABOVE: Cathy Cundiff plans to teach in an elementary school at the primary level. She is a Lambda Chi Crescent Girl and was sponsored by Kappa Delta Tau Service Sorority. LEFT: Senior Terea Carter, a special education major from Hartford, Kentucky, was sponsored by Delta Sigma Theta. Terea enjoys sewing and reading.

Autumn Beauty Stirs Busy Campus

Autumn colored Eastern's "campus beautiful" in vivid hues of red, orange, green, brown, and gold. October's bright sun painted the leaves while they were on the trees, then November's rainy gales tumbled them to the ground. Fall gave warning of the cold winter ahead by occasional chilling temperatures and gusting winds. As in years past, students and faculty looked for excuses to walk through the colorful ravine, radiant with fall colors.

The Reality of True Vanity

On November 16th the Eastern Theater Department presented Jack Heifner's play "Vanities". The play is an intense study of three women, and how vanity destroyed their lives. The trio reflects on their metamorphosis into women as they look back on their school days. The costumes played an integral role in the production, revealing to the audience the period of time considered.

The Shadow Box Deals With Death

On February 21st the Theater Department of Eastern Kentucky University presented the play, The Shadow Box. Written by Micheal Cristofer, The Shadow Box is a web of vignettes about three families who must contend with the knowledge that one of their members is dying. The play is about death but, it actually explores the meaning of life.

The simplicity of the sets and props added to the starkness of the reality of the play. Lighting effects were also another factor contributing to the success of The Shadow Box.

Although the plays deals with death as a depressing part of life, it also enhances the audience to realize and to explore the true meaning of life.

DISCO DISCO

DAZZLE DAZZLE

Stricken with disco fever, whirling and bumping Eastern students took to the floors of downtown bars to strut their stuff. The dancers exhibited varying degrees of skill — some went on the floor without thought to design and let the rhythm take them where it would; others executed complicated steps, twirling their partners and gliding across the floor, while their less mobile peers looked on, envious and awestruck.

Weekly dance contests offered more proficient dancers a chance to prove their skills against other contestants. Dressed in the height of dancing fashion, they compared their moves to those of others in the advanced stages of disco fever.

Starbuck Opens Up Concert Season

Starbuck brought its mellow, southern rock and roll sound back to the Hiram Brock Auditorium on September 30th, opening the University Centerboard's concert season for the second year in a row.

They combined exotic African instruments with more conventional guitars and keyboards, using these diverse instruments to create a unique blend of music. Starbuck sang some of its hits such as "Moonlight Feels Right" and "I Got to Know."

Starbuck's versatile music began the concert season on an upbeat.

TOP: The spotlight is on Starbuck's Dave Shaves as he favors the audience with his work on the guitar. ABOVE: Band members back up the lyrics with their guitars and synthesizers. More exotic African instruments lent a diversity to Starbuck's compositions.

ABOVE: Dave Shaves harmonizes with lead singer Bruce Blackman under the glow of the multi-colored spotlights so integral to Starbuck's show.

LEFT: A musician who can play many instruments adds to concert experience. This member of John Prine's band played harmonica, mandolin, xylophone and piano. BOTTOM: Background vocals are essential to any successful act; in John Prine's concert this is no exception.

John Prine Stirs Up Fun in Music

John Prine brought his sometimes folk, sometimes country, sometimes rock and roll act to a packed Brock Auditorium on February 12.

The rock sound with which Prine began his concert (on the tune "Spanish Pipedream") was a departure from the solo style that many of his fans in the audience knew him by. But the sheer fun Prine got from playing was contagious; he had the crowd with him from the beginning.

Later Prine played some of the solo numbers on which his small but steady following was built. "Dear Abby", "Paradise" and "Illegal Smile"; these were the songs his audience had come to hear. With only his guitar to accompany his gravelly voice, Prine's satirical lyrics came to the foreground. Throughout the concert Prine kept the one internal ingredient so essential to his popularity — he had fun.

On February 28, 2,500 hundred music fans filed into the Alumni Coliseum to hear the music of the Outlaws and UFO.

UFO warmed the audience up with their high-energy, hard rock music. Though they are a somewhat new band, UFO showed promise of talent yet to come. They played with professionalism and organization such numbers as "Rock Me, Roll Me," and "Too Hot To Handle".

Then to the theme from "Star Wars", the Outlaws took the stage. They played some of the country-rock numbers which they made their reputation, songs like "Hurry Sundown," "You Are the Snow," and their hit single "There Goes Another Love Song".

The Outlaws then favored their audience with some hard rock songs that were a departure from their well known country-rock style.

The highlight of the evening came when the audience called for, and got arousing encore. The enthusiasm of the Outlaws generated excitement enough to make Eastern's first major concert in two years a success.

TOP: Different colored lights focus a multi-colored hue on the main attraction — the Outlaws. LEFT: Hughie Thomasson plays the electric guitar with the skill and expertise of a successful performer. ABOVE: The spotlight shines on Hughie Thomasson and Freddie Salem as they express their musical talents.

Mother Nature Leaves a Cascade of Beauty

Winter kept the campus well covered with its own version of beauty. The chilling winds and snow did not, however, dampen spirits. Students found enjoyment and entertainment by going sledding or taking a quiet walk.

Students also enjoyed better safety on the sidewalks this winter due to hard work by maintenance. Alas, no matter how hard maintenance labored there were still problems.

New friends were made as students helped push cars and aid those victims that fell on the ice.

Relief came after a long day of trudging through the cold and slush when coeds were able to retreat to their rooms and dream of the spring yet to come.

The past events on campus have provided an infinite source of conversation material. The snow-trimmed evergreens, ice-laced statues, and numbing cold helped make winter a subject best remembered in the warmth of spring.

TOP: A fallen tree in the ravine gives the impression that these students are hiking out of a snowy forest. LEFT: Trees around campus were decked in the best of winter fashion, fashion shaped from ice, by the chilling wind. Here icicles dangled from the limbs of trees, and this pine cone, a remnant of autumn, is frozen in a cocoon of ice.

Summer Offers Unique Rewards For Some

Ah, Summertime! Time to soak up some sun, play a little softball, do some swimming, and find a job to earn some money for the next year of school. But for at least three students, summertime brought something different from swimming or work.

Tony Gordon, for example, spent the past two summers in Bardstown, Ky., playing the role of the Devil in "The Stephen Foster Story". Feeling the urge to move on, Gordon will try out for this summer's Great Lakes Shakespeare Festival.

Jim Parker also used the summer to hone his theatrical skills. Parker played the role of a British officer (one who he said exemplified "everything you'd dislike about a person") in "The Legend of Daniel Boone."

And Kenny Elliot spent perhaps the most interesting summer of any Eastern student — he traveled through the African countries of Cameroon, Liberia, Senegal, and the Central African Empire as a "Sports Ambassador". Elliot combined his dazzling basketball skills with his ability to share his relationship with Jesus Christ to spread his Christian faith through these countries.

Eastern's Cooperative Education Program finished its fourth year of placing students in positions that gave them opportunity to gain practical experience in their field of study while earning money and academic credit for their work.

Kenneth Noah was the coordinator of the Co-op program, which offered students the chance to earn up to 16 hours of required academic credit. And Noah's office knew no geographic boundaries; it placed students in companies as far away as the Caribbean Islands and Europe.

Noah, in an article in Eastern magazine, said the Co-op program "increases and improves educational processes available to students by exposing them to sophisticated procedures and equipment too costly to stimulate in the classroom". The program also gave participants the on-the-job experience that employers value so much.

Student Teaching — The Last Step

Student teaching—What does it involve? Very few students ever experience the answer to that question unless they are education majors. Student teaching is that last step required to graduate a certified school teacher. It is also the time when the skills and knowledge that a teacher acquires in the classroom are put to the test in the field. Starting out, most student teachers are anxious, scared and more than anything else, just a little excited. But they generally faced to the challenge, for they understood that that challenge is what education is all about.

Ag Attracts All Types

Agriculture, in many forms, is fast becoming very popular among the college students at ECU. Many students are involved in agriculture so they can learn the type of skills taught by life on a farm. Others get involved so they can learn more about how to grow plants in their dorm room, or maybe to learn how to landscape or arrange plants in a yard.

Many of the students who participated in ag sought degrees in that field so they could use their trades on their, or someone else's farm. Then there were the dietetics or political science major who were just curious about what's involved in the field of agriculture. The chance to be outdoors and learn satisfying skills attracted students to Agriculture Department courses.

Student Athletes Realize Real Glory

The wide array of sports available to Eastern students allowed participation in anything from water polo to fencing. Students competed on levels ranging from physical education classes to intramural and intercollegiate competition.

As spectators of these contests, few students appreciated the hard work, long hours and dedication involved in preparation for athletic performances. Student athletes budgeted their time to allow for behind-the-scene study, practice, and obligations seldom seen by fans.

In the end, this extra effort paid off as student athletes realized that the real victory came in the knowledge that they had done their best, and as a result of this hard work, had grown into determined adults.

Foreigners Bring International Flavor

The world was moved right to our doorstep through the nearly 150 foreigners who came to the University this year, some to work as students, others as teachers.

Along with the internationals, many of the world's conflicts were brought close to home, too. We saw, among other things, Iranians leave to fight their "holy war" and Taiwanese worry about their nation in light of the recognition of Red China.

Also this year, some of us, because of our international friends, began to gain a broader, more realistic idea of what the world is and where we fit into it.

Good Nutrition Provides Lasting Energy

Too often and for too many, lunch means whatever food is filling and can be gotten fast. When time rules the lunch break, many consumers will satisfy their hunger with a quick snack from the vending machines; they forget nutrition—forget it, that is, until they get to within an hour of quitting time and suddenly wonder where their energy went. Then they might realize that those people who always seem to be full of energy are probably those who take the time to eat a nutritious lunch.

ABOVE: Companionship is another benefit the cafeteria offers. A meal can be much more satisfying when one takes the time to linger over his food, and talk with friends.

Art: The Expression of Inspiration

What does it take to be an artist? Imagination, of course; creativity, to be sure. But art is not only the result of intellect; much hard work is needed to shape the inspiration and bring it physical form. An artist, then, needs patience to endure long hours of work, and ambition to drive him to do that work.

Tami Siwert has that ambition, and that patience. She has the inspiration too — “I paint a picture in my mind of what I want to do,” she says. Here she is shown making an aluminum cast; it’s a process that requires many skills: designing, drawing and metalsmithing all have a part in it. They are the many steps Tami takes to bring inspiration form.

Religion Adds Sense of Belonging

The University provided a fertile atmosphere for religious expression. Searching, brought about by the demands of the academic world, was not only outward, but also inward. Religion proved to be something adding meaning and a sense of belonging to the lives of many on campus.

Christians made up the largest and most active religious group. By involving themselves in Bible study, worship, fellowship and evangelism, the Christian students on campus actively communicated their relationship with Jesus.

Other religions on campus were the Baha'i faith and the Latter Day Saints. Both groups sought to relate their faiths with their education by having various study meetings.

Followers of Islam, Judaism and Buddhism were also in evidence at the University, as were Satan worshipers, but these groups were not highly organized.

Spring: A Never Ending Cycle

Spring is the beginning of many things; flowers and trees initiate their flowering stage; new lovers may be taking a stroll in the ravine. Spring is a time when students graduate and begin a new start in life.

Students start many outdoor activities as the weather gets warmer. People toss frisbies, or they play a game of softball. Some start tanning in anticipation of spring break.

The coming of spring also brings a revival of life to ECU. Students end their hibernation, and come out of their dorms. The sun warms their faces. All of a sudden, campus life returns back to its normal bustling.

Spring brings a renewal of color to the dull, white winter landscape. Birds return from their Southern playgrounds to make spring a joyous occasion.

"April showers bring May flowers. What does May bring?" Students hope the end of a successful school year.

Graduation Climaxes Four Years of Study

After years of the learning experiences college brings, the graduates were more than ready to begin a new type of experience — an experience in which they could use their talents, skills and knowledge they had acquired towards their own development. Their lives were about to take definite form. What had just been a dream was now a near reality. They had made it.

Their departments had prepared them. They were off to establish themselves a name, whether it was a continuation of "student", aspiration to "president" or "manager" or even a marriage title, Eastern had set them on the right track. They were ready.

Though their studies, activities and friends had taken many of their days and transferred them into years, the ceremony which brought it all together — graduation, was over after several hours. Then they were gone, but the experiences and knowledge they had acquired at Eastern would never be forgotten.

Colorful Aura Brightens EKU at Night

Often throughout the regular hussle of each day we forget to take a close look at the campus — the campus beautiful. Somehow they neglect to notice the entrancing beauty at night even more so than during the day. However, there are several aiding night lights that help increase our viewing past the sidewalk. Students rarely tend to step outside and peer down at one of Eastern's greatest assets — the beautifully illuminated campus.

A type of anonymity masks the campus once the sun sets. All students seem to gaze more openly at the appearing stars, bright moon or even their immediate surroundings. At night a peaceful sense of security, respect and pride renews itself and then patiently waits to be set free again — the following night.

ACADEMIES

The most important wisdom we gain is through the people, the experiences and the application of our abilities.

Governor Honored

In keeping with the label of "education governor" he gained in the 1978 General Assembly, Governor Julian Carroll attacked proposed cuts in the federal and state budgets, saying education in the state would suffer.

Governor Carroll said those who proposed the cuts were "borrowing time to get past the election" with the cliché "let's cut taxes but don't let's cut programs."

Governor Carroll delivered the main address at Eastern's "Progress and Appreciation Day" in January. President J. C. Powell invited Carroll in "recognition for his efforts in support of education."

The Governor has been a frequent visitor to Eastern's campus to break ground for new buildings, for building dedications, and other events.

Governor Carroll directs the Council on Higher Education, which controls Kentucky's system of higher education.

The University Board of Regents in one of its more significant student-related actions this year created a subcommittee of the Board to hear student appeals of Student Disciplinary Board decisions.

The action was generated by the fact that the entire Board's hearing appeals at scheduled quarterly meetings sometimes caused an undesirable delay between the time a student might make an appeal and the time of its hearing.

The Board is the University's official policy making body, composed of eight citizens appointed by the Governor to four-year terms and student and faculty members elected by their peers. This year John Cooper, student association vice president, was elected as student regent since the association president, Steve Foster is not a native Kentuckian and was therefore unable to serve.

In other actions the Board issued a position statement asking the special session of the legislature not to make budget cuts that would effect ongoing programs. Eastern's appropriation survived the special session intact. The Board also approved the University's operating budget for the 1979-80 year.

Powell Receives New Four Year Contract

For Eastern's seventh president, Dr. J. C. Powell, this year was one in which he continued to direct the refinement and reorganization of the University. It was also a year in which the Board of Regents voted him a new four-year contract, effective July 1, 1979.

Under Dr. Powell's direction, the University Planning Council worked toward implementing the new alignment of colleges, also effective July 1. The reorganization created three new colleges from a merger of the College of Arts and Sciences and Central University College.

The Planning Council also devoted attention to developing program improvements aimed at enhancing the quality of University activities.

The increasing emphasis on state-wide coordination of higher education in Kentucky created increased demands on President Powell's schedule. The Council on Higher Education and the 1978 Kentucky General Assembly required information from the University; this was provided under President Powell's Direction.

A highlight of the President's year was the opportunity to appear before the General Assembly's interim joint committee on education. He and other regional university presidents had the chance to relate first-hand observations to the legislators. President Powell told the committee that the challenges of reallocating institutional resources in an era of steady enrollments were as demanding as those faced during the years of rapid growth. And he joined his fellow presidents in voicing the view that the Council on Higher Education was now empowered to do an effective job of coordinating Kentucky's universities.

Martin Appears On KET

A profile of President Emeritus Robert R. Martin led off Kentucky Educational Television's new series "Distinguished Kentuckian" last fall. Dr. Martin and former Governor Bert Combs reminisced about Dr. Martin's many years of service as President of Eastern, and discussed his future as a State Senator.

That future will likely be closely tied with Dr. Martin's continuing commitment to education. Serving on the Education Committee, and the Appropriation and Revenue and Health and Welfare Committee of the Kentucky Senate, Dr. Martin worked to promote the improvement of public education in the state.

And his commitment to Eastern did not weaken; he and his wife Anne continued their support of University activities. In December, Dr. Martin had the honor of burning the last revenue bonds for the Foster Music Building. Built in 1955, the Foster Building was financed by a bond issue that Dr. Martin called "the forerunner of future bond issues that financed Eastern's tremendous campus expansion programs of the 60's and early 70's" — the years in which Dr. Martin directed the growth of Eastern's physical plant from a value of $7 million to $120 million.

Public Safety Faces Parking Problems

The Division of Safety and Security changed its name to the Division of Public Safety this year; the change reflects the division's new expanded role.

Parking problems were the division's big headaches, and were the cause of much controversy throughout the year. But the division gave out fewer traffic citations than last year, which the director of parking said was due to the increased fines. The division also put up new signs on campus roads, and installed parking meters to increase the turnover in frequently used areas.

The division also faced internal auditing and budgeting problems.

Doug Whitlock, executive assistant to the president, is responsible for reviewing each scholarship application made to the University, and worked closely with President Powell in other areas.

Faculty Evaluation Developed

Dr. John D. Rowlett, vice-president of Academic Affairs and Research, directs an important and wide-ranging administrative office. While working on the reorganization plan, Dr. Rowlett also continued to manage the Libraries and Learning Resources, Institutional Research, Undergraduate Studies, the Registrar, the Graduate School, the Community College Program and the seven Colleges.

Evaluation of faculty was a major project of Rowlett's office this year. The office proposed to develop plans for the evaluation of tenured faculty, possibly to be put into effect this fall. Still under development is the plan for evaluation of academic administrators.

The John Grant Crabbe Library, under this office, is still reclassifying books to the Library of Congress. The faculty is also working on identifying the needs for expansion.

Open House Proposals Made

Dr. Thomas Myers, vice-president of Student Affairs, worked with representatives from Men and Women's Interdorm throughout the year in areas such as fire safety and control, and open house. A new open house policy was proposed which would change the present Sunday open house hours to Sunday evenings, or spread that time out over Sunday through Thursday evenings.

The Ellendale Counseling Center continued to serve students in areas such as various types of testing, and counseling. It also offered credit courses, such as an eight-week career planning seminar, which helped new students adjust to campus life. Helping people was the objective of the Counseling Center.

Another area of Student Affairs is the Financial Aid department. Along with their normal duties, the department tried to help middle-income students make the most of the passage of the Middle Income Financial Assistance Act.

Donaldson Oversees Business Affairs

The Office of Business Affairs, under the supervision of vice-president Neal Donaldson, covers all Business and Logistical Services of the University. The Office included the Division of Professional Services, the office of the Bursar, the Office of Food Services, the Division of Buildings and Grounds, University Store and Farms, the Division of Institutional Services, the Division of Communication Services, and the Division of Purchasing. These offices provide vital business-related services necessary for the proper operations of the University to keep it functioning from day to day.

Versatility: Key to Office Role

The Office of Public Affairs, under Vice President Donald R. Feltner's leadership, expanded its programs which serve both the university community and alumni. Feltner's office planned the Progress and Appreciation Luncheon in January, which Governor Carrol attended, and also supervised the luncheon honoring employees' years of service.

Exemplary of the dual service role was the Division of Career Development and Placement, directed by Kurt Zimmerman. This year the office added to Career Information Resource Center a library stocked with specific employment information, and increased the number of on-campus professional job interviews. Evening interview sessions were added for those unable to take advantage of the service during the day.

The Division of Alumni Affairs planned this year's Alumni Day, and was the impetus behind Homecoming '78, but its major undertaking was the compilation of the Alumni Directory. This listed the names, occupations and business and home phone numbers and addresses of all living alumni.

The Division of Public Information, headed by John Winnecke, directed a reorganization of its publication program to package and better utilize its available funds. The Division of Public Information was responsible for keeping students, faculty, staff and media of campus activities.

The Division of University-School Relations was again instrumental in the planning and hosting workshops, conferences, camps, and festivals. It was also responsible for coordinating high-school band camps and Band Day, and was active in recruiting high school students for Eastern.

Versatile Planetarium Nears Completion

Dr. William Sexton, vice-president of the Office of Public Services and Special Programs, prepared to move his operation to the new offices in the Perkins Building. Dr. Sexton oversees the activities in the Division of Television and Radio, the Administrative and Academic Computing Services and the University Archives.

Offices in the Hummel Planetarium will be occupied in June, said Dr. Jack Fletcher, director of the planetarium; and he said the planetarium will be ready for University use in January, 1980.

Dr. Fletcher said the planetarium will be one of the largest in the world—there are only five others like it. It will also feature one of the largest viewing rooms in the world; only the planetarium on the campus of the University of North Carolina has a bigger one. And the planetarium's computer-operated instruments will be able to project 10,164 stars, as opposed to standard sized planetariums (like the Rauch Planetarium in Louisville) which can project only about 2,400 stars.

Dr. Fletcher sees great inter-disciplinary potential in the planetarium. The theater department, for instance, could produce plays using the facilities of the planetarium to create extraordinary backdrops. And the general studies Social Science department has already developed classes that could be taught partly in the planetarium, classes dealing with the evolution of man's conception of the heavens.

General Education Important In Undergraduate Studies

The Department of Undergraduate Studies, under Dean Joseph Schwendeman, was responsible for the general education of undergraduates. This responsibility included developing the general education program, keeping undergraduate records and ensuring that each undergraduate completes the University's general education requirements. The department was also responsible for advising the approximately 1000 undergraduates with undeclared majors.

Dean Schwendeman also directed the College Outcomes Measurement Program, which he said may have some impact on general education classes at the University. Designed by the American College Testing Program, the test measured the students' versatility; whether or not they possessed the skills that a general education program should instill.

Coded Sheets Aid Students

A major innovation in Undergraduate Studies last year was the coding of the general education printout sheets. Dean Schwendeman said the new sheets will be more easily understood by students and their advisors, and let the student know exactly where he stands in terms of his general education requirements. These sheets will also be made available to workers at registration.

Opportunities Abound In Nursing Field

ABOVE: Using microfiche to store data, saves space and time in the medical records department. BELOW: Dr. David Gale, dean of Allied Health and Nursing, reviews an accreditation plan for next year.

The College of Allied Health and Nursing comprises an academic community whose main objective is to train students in the various health fields. A special emphasis is placed upon producing graduates who are oriented towards rural health care, according to Dean David D. Gale. Since Kentucky has a low ratio of health professionals to population, Eastern strived to meet this special need in the Commonwealth, especially in Eastern Kentucky.

During the past year the College of Allied Health and Nursing has sponsored a workshop on Sensory Intergration and Exceptional Children. This relates to integration theory and treatment of Children. Another program sponsored this year was an Allied Health Job Fair for Nursing graduates. This fair introduced prospective nursing graduates to employers in a wide variety of Health Care services. This also provides early information in job market opportunities for undergraduate students.

Department Achieves Accreditation

The Baccalaureate Nursing program received accreditation in April from the National League for Nursing Accreditation. The Associate program received re-accreditation last year. Both departments are constantly working on revising their curriculum and programs to make it more student oriented and to allow more feedback from students.

Meeting Kentucky's health needs was the main objective of the Occupational Therapy Program. A six-month field experience practicum helped meet this need, by exposing students to the rural settings in which they might be working. During that field work, students were placed in occupational facilities where occupational therapy was practiced.

EMT Finishes Third Year

Under the direction of Mr. Tom Hammack, the Emergency Medical Training Program finished its third year. Established in August, 1976, the program offered the only Associate Degree in Emergency Medical Training in the state. Graduates of the program often go to work for fire and police agencies, as well as ambulance services.

The Associate Program in Medical and Pediatrics Assisting offered students the chance to gain office and medical skills. To better meet the needs of the students, a new computer lab was established in the Begley Building this year.

College Adds Mass Communications Department

Experiencing a steady increase in enrollment, the college of Applied Arts and Technology emphasized striving for internal quality. Since the college is comprised of departments that deal with applied studies, a special emphasis was placed on CO-OP work by students. According to Dean Kenneth S. Hanson this career oriented department stresses a good general and liberal education with practical knowledge for a students' career goals.

The Department of Mass Communications, one of the newest additions as of last July, promises to be one of the brightest shining stars in the college. Mass Communications under the Chairmanship of James Harris offers a Public Relations program with a greater variety of electives for a 30 hour major which will be parallel to the Journalism program. To further the theme of practical knowledge, the department sponsored trips to New York and Washington D.C. to see journalism at first hand.

Departments Meet Future Needs

The Department of Agriculture, under the chairmanship of Dwight G. Barkley, has three basic purposes: to provide programs for the education in Agricultural occupations, to develop new programs to meet the needs of the rapidly developing technology, and to provide work related experiences as part of technical education. Degrees can be obtained in two and four-year programs, ranging anywhere from Agriculture to pre-veterinary medicine. Many of the students after graduation go on to work in Floraculture, management of family farms, or in area businesses.

The Department of Home Economics, under the Chairmanship of Dr. Betty Powers, is rapidly growing and becoming the heart of the family. Major area programs range from Child Development, Dietetics, and Textiles, to Fashion Merchandising. Study tours have been sponsored to Dallas and New York City during Spring break and May inter-session. Future plans in the proposal stage are to have a Masters degree program in Community Nutrition.

Industrial Technology: A Department That Works

New Catalogue In Preparation

The College of Arts and Sciences, under Dean Fredrick S. Ogden, is designed to provide all students with a well rounded, progressive education. This college includes a wide range of interests from Anthropology, to Speech and Theatre Arts.

According to Dean Ogden, the College has focused its primary attention in the reorganization program and putting it into operation. This entailed involving the Dean designates or new deans on the present departments to provide them with pertinent information and train them to be deans.

Another major activity the College has been involved with is the preparation of the new university catalogue for 1980. Because of the changes on the various departments, Dean Ogden said that this is a long and complicated process. Another involved aspect to this is the fact that every new degree program proposed by the college has to be approved by the Council on Higher Education.

Changes Made In Programs

The Department of Theatre and Speech introduced modifications in its Bachelor of Fine Arts program. Those changes were made in terms of course requirements to better prepare the student as a performer in the Musical Theatre. Additional courses in the department are two dance courses for musical theatre and a new course in improvisational acting.

A new option in Choral conducting in the Master of Music degree program will be offered next year by the Department of Music. This will help to broaden the education of Music Majors and open up career choices for them. The department already prepares Music Specialists for degrees in vocal and instrumental performance, Music Education and other aspects of professional musicianship.

Expertise And Skills Important In Art

Pending the hiring of the new faculty, the Art Department will offer curriculum emphasizing photography as an art form. There were also proposals to make changes in the drawing and design programs. The department stresses the development of expertise and skills important to professionalism and art education. The Fine Arts degree included areas such as sculpture, painting, metalsmithing, design and printmaking. A graduate program was also offered in an Education degree in the College of Education.

Department Offers New Masters Program

A new Masters program in Community Planning was offered by the Anthropology, Sociology and Social Work department. This program became available to all students majoring in geography, political science, anthropology, sociology, and social work. Also new in the department were courses in selected topics in archeology and applied sociology.

The College of Arts and Sciences additionally worked on a proposal to affiliate itself with the Gulf Coast Research Lab in Mississippi. Covering geology, biology, and chemistry majors, this affiliation will allow stronger concentration in marine science courses, and will provide the students with better facilities to study the marine environment.

In order to help furnish more opportunities for unemployed history majors, the Department of History proposed a Historical Preservation Emphasis for next year. Conserving important historical documents on a local or national basis is the main objective of the program.

Business Considers Module Learning

Some changes were necessary within the College of Business after the college added the Coal Mining Administration Program. Dr. John Griffith was named director of the Coal Mining Program, and completed his first year as director this past spring. Dr. Griffith worked to build industry support for the program; he visited coal companies throughout the state, as well as maintaining contact with the Kentucky Coal Association. Eastern's Coal Mining Administration Program is the only comprehensive one of its sort in the nation. Approximately 40 students were enrolled in the program as of the spring semester, and Dean Howard Thompson predicted the enrollment would double until it reaches a maximum of 150.

Dean Thompson directs a constant self-evaluation by the College of Business. One area in which he would like to see change is credit hours. Eastern has fallen into the trap, Thompson said, of making nearly all of its classes three-hour classes. Thompson advocates a "module-learning" system, using courses of one to five hours.

College Has Constant Self-Evaluation

The College of Business has the largest number of undergraduate majors, with just over 2000. Dean Thompson had to find ways for each of these students to fully utilize the resources of the College. He also encouraged students to be aware of other resources on campus, and not to limit themselves to the College of Business courses.

Enrollment In Business Grows

The Department of Business Administration continues to grow; it has more than doubled in size since 1974, and has approximately 1000 majors. An increasing interest among the general public in the areas of insurance and real estate led to larger enrollments in classes concerning these areas.

In the Department of Office Administration, Chairman Alfred Patrick stressed the improvement of the two-year secretarial programs instituted in 1975.

Education Revises Special Programs

Responding to the increasing demand for Special Education instructors, the College of Education, under Dean Dixon Barr, revised many of its programs in Special Education last year. Opportunities in Special Education are expanding, especially in the area of deaf education, said Dean Barr, so his college continued to evaluate and improve Eastern's deaf education program—the only program of its type in the state. The emphasis in deaf education right now is to get deaf children into regular public schools.

There is also a growing concern for the needs of gifted children, and thus a demand for instructors trained to meet these needs, said Dean Barr; Eastern is exploring this field in hopes to produce this type of teacher. Kindergarten teachers are also in continued demand.

The School of Health, Physical, Recreation, and Athletics is leaving the College under the reorganization program, and Dean Barr is directing the reorganization of "the remainder of the college."

Dr. William Thames finished his first year as director of the office of Field Services and Professional Development, which the College of Education developed to maintain a closer link with the public schools in the region.

Department Maintains Link With Schools

Students Train As Principals

Chairman Charles Ross' Department of Education Administration maintained seven campus extension offices throughout Central and Eastern Kentucky, serving 260 graduate students. The department offered specialized curricula to students planning to enter the area of school administration; programs were available to students intending to become school superintendents or supervisors, elementary or secondary school principals, and school business administrators.

Law Enforcement Continues In Excellence

The College of Law Enforcement, under Dean Robert W. Posey, continued to upgrade its already excellent programs. One of the largest colleges on campus, it is composed of the Traffic Safety Institute, Departmental Corrections, Police Administration and Fire Prevention and Control.

One change in the college involved correctional services which was renamed departmental corrections. The program was reworked to more strongly emphasize juvenile problems. Often programs in this department related to correctional case workers, probation officers and juvenile counselors.

Headed by Dr. William Browne, the Traffic Safety Institute was especially busy this year. Federal Safety and Health Council members within the institute met to coordinate a statewide Child Safety Program. The institute received a contract from the Office of Highway Safety Programs to oversee a program for child safety restraints in cars. A special two-day course in avoiding auto collisions was offered by the Institute. Practice in driving skills such as controlling braking, skid control, evasive maneuvers, and off-road recovery was conducted. The Boone Region Emergency Medical Service in Kentucky also benefited from the department. A grant was received for the training of 415 ambulance drivers from the region.

Placing 100 per cent of its graduates in employment, the Department of Fire Prevention and Control is another example of the College of Law Enforcement's outstanding achievement. The department places personnel in fire prevention, fire service administration, and industrial loss prevention. According to Director Dale Cozad, a contract with the city of Richmond was arranged for students to man the city's water pump. Also, the fire extinguishers will be under the control of the Fire Prevention department as part of the cooperative study program.

Graduate School Upgrades Programs

As a result of a continued moratorium by the Kentucky State Legislature on the expansion of graduate school programs, the focus within the Graduate School this year was again on upgrading existing programs and faculty. Despite limitations, the School retained its usual high status among similar Universities and Graduate Schools. Dean Charles H. Gibson and his department chairmen continued to review prospective programs.

Currently the Graduate School is exploring opportunities for new programs in Community Nutrition in the Home Economics department, and new programs for the College of Applied Health and Nursing. One of the more promising proposals will be the multi-disciplinary option in Community Development. Another proposal to be added is the new option in Data Processing for the College of Business.

College Boasts Fifty Graduate Programs

Eastern's Graduate School serves a diverse population; Every graduate returns to school for different reasons. Some come to renew their education, finding that knowledge in their field has expanded greatly; some return to keep their jobs, or to advance in their fields. Others come directly from college, opting to remain in the security of school. Eastern has over 50 continuing education programs and various degrees to respond to these different needs.

Last fall, Eastern's Board of Regents approved the reorganization of the University's academic structure. Effective July 1, 1979, the reorganization will mean some changes around the University, most noticeably the creation of four new colleges.

By blending parts of the old Central University College with the College of Arts and Sciences, the plan produced the College of Arts and Humanities, the College of Natural and Mathematical Sciences, and the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences.

A fourth college, the College of Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Athletics, was formed by removing the School of HPERA from the College of Education and establishing it as a separate college.

The reorganization, according to the University Planning Council, is an effort by the University to correct "operational problems within the University that may be the result of organizational faults."

One point the Planning Council stressed in its reorganization document was the importance of general education. The three new colleges spawned by the merger of Central University and the College of Arts and Sciences are charged with primary responsibility in general education based on existing University General Education Guidelines.

The deans of the new colleges share the Planning Council's concern for general education. "An obligation exists to help students function as intelligent human beings," said Dr. James Libbey, who will be Associate Dean of the College of Arts and Humanities. Dr. John Long, who will be Dean of that college, said that it is more important now than ever to develop the students in as many aspects as possible. "This is a time in which more people are changing their professions," said Dr. Long, "so why should students limit themselves to courses dealing only with their intended profession?"

The addition of the three new colleges will mean smaller, more manageable administrative units for each college, will increase administrative efficiency, and will facilitate the development of the general education program.

The smaller colleges will also have fewer faculty, meaning that communication within each college will be easier and making the decision-making process less time-consuming.

The Deans and Associate Deans of the new colleges will be:

The things they do often go unnoticed. They hardly ever get any credit or thanks. But they are always there, win or lose, doing what they do best, urging the team on to victory. They are, of course, the Cheerleaders.

Under the direction of captain Kim Latham, the squad made appearances at Western Kentucky for football and at Western and Morehead for basketball, and with the additions of John Harkey and Brad Wallace to the team, they provided an exciting new aspect to the squads routines.

Close only counts in Horseshoes

The 1978 version of the Eastern Kentucky University baseball team provided plenty of excitement throughout the spring, winning some high scoring slugfests, but coming up a little short in a lot of close games. The Colonels ended their season with overall and OVC records of 11-15-1 and 2-8.

Under Head Coach Jack Hissom, the Colonels finished 13th in the nation in team batting with a .328 average as seven Colonels hit .333 or better. Junior outfielder Darryl Weaver ended up the 18th leading hitter in the NCAA, compiling a .429 mark. Weaver also hammered six home runs and drove in a team high 27 RBI's, while striking out only three times in 77 at bats. He earned All-OVC honors for 1978.

Junior Corky Prater was also named to the All-OVC squad for the second time. Prater batted .333 and led the Colonels in doubles with 10, home runs with seven and he knocked in 24 runs.

The Colonels' main question for next year is whether their pitching staff gained any experience. Their 6.30 ERA was the worst in the OVC, and hopefully, with seven hurlers returning including juniors Tom McNulty and Greg Wiseman, the Colonels will be able to change from singing the blues to whistling a winning tune.

Eyeing the Future

"This is shaping up to be the best year in the school's history," said Head Golf Coach Jim Suttie, and he was right.

The Colonels won five tournaments during the 1977-78 season, including the Kentucky Intercollegiate, the Mid-American Conference Invitational, and the Colonel Classic. They also placed second in three other events, and were ranked 17th in the final NCAA Division I-AA golf poll.

Middle Tennessee edged out the Colonels for the OVC title, 879 to 887, but All-OVC choices

Richard Clark and Tom Tierney tied for fifth place in the individual standings with scores of 220 for the 54 hole event. Clark also participated in the NCAA Championships in Eugene, Oregon, finishing 19th.

Coach Jim Suttie resigned after the 77-78 season and his successor, Ray Struder, has stepped into an up and coming program. Six returning players, including junior Dave Gaer and senior Mike Gray make the Colonels' chance for the OVC crown in '79 look better all the time.

Just a Little Out of Reach

Playing one of their toughest schedules in years, with Notre Dame, Mississippi, Kentucky and Memphis State on the card, the Men's Tennis team under the direction of Tom Higgins struggled through the 1978 spring season, winning eight and losing 15 matches.

A lot of matches could of gone either way, but it was inexperience that hampered the netters as seven underclassmen were placed in tough situations. Overall, they did surprisingly well, finishing fifth in the Greg Adams Invitational Tournament and defeated some strong teams in some of their dual matches.

A bad start here, a dropped baton there, such was the season for Eastern's Men's track team. Stumbling at the starting blocks, the tracksters fell too far behind in their meets during the year and just never could catch up; although they did do well in some meets, their efforts were inconsistent, and therefore individual achievement was the main highlight.

Mike Howell, Scott DeCandia, and Chris Goodwin were all double record breakers for the Colonels this past spring. Howell smashed both the indoor and outdoor high jump marks last season, clearing six feet 10 inches and seven feet respectively, while DeCandia did his thing in the shot put with tosses of 55 feet six inches inside and 56 feet seven inches outside. Goodwin, meanwhile, triple jumped his way to a mark of 51 feet eight inches indoors and 50 feet and six inches outdoors.

Dulling these performances were a seventh place finish in the OVC Indoor meet and a sixth place showing in the OVC Outdoor meet, which was surprising with the overall talent of Head Coach Art Harvey's squad. But the added experience of the veterans along with a good recruiting year by Harvey should bring respectability back where it belongs — at the Tom Samuels track.

School records fell during the spring season. Teri Seippel set a new mark in the 110 meter high hurdles with a time of 14.8 seconds; Marie Geisler's 127 feet 10 inch javelin throw was also a new record. Sharon Walker in the 200 meter run, the 440 yard relay team and the 880 yard relay team also set new marks for the lady tracksters.

Cross country sensations Sue Schaefer and Jenny Utz both ran for the track team and both qualified for Nationals; Schaefer in the 3,000 meter run and Utz in the 5,000 meter run. Seippel also qualified in the Association of Inter-collegiate Athletics for Women in her speciality, the Pentathlon.

It was a season of milestones. Head Coach Roy Kidd won his 100th career football game; placekicker David Flores and fullback Dale Patton both set new school records in scoring; the maroon and white finished the season with a 8-2 record and they were ranked 8th in the nation by the NCAA Division I-AA poll.

It was also a season of heartbreak. Seven points kept the Colonels from being undefeated; a field goal with no time left on the clock cost Eastern the OVC Championship, and a possible spot in the Division I-AA playoffs. Stan Mitchell, the Colonels' speedy tailback, got hurt in the first game and never got back into form until the last game of the year.

But the Colonels can look forward to next year. 45 lettermen will return for Kidd and his coaches, and with only five members of the squad graduating, 1979 could be a banner year for Eastern football.

The Colonels traveled to Troy, Alabama to take on Troy State in the opening game of the 1978 season. In what Coach Kidd attributed to "opening game jitters," Eastern dropped a tough 16-10 decision to the Trojans. A Bill Hughes pass was intercepted in the end zone with only 30 seconds left and that sealed the Colonels' fate.

LEFT: Roy Kidd is hoisted on his players shoulders after he gained his 100th victory as a Head Coach in a 30-0 win over Morehead. Kidd has been at Eastern for the past fifteen years, has a won-lost record of 100-48-6, and has averaged nearly seven victories a season.

LEFT: Hard-hitting defense was one of the keys for the Colonels and their 8-2 record. Here, tackle Rickie Rhodes plows into a Murray State running back and jars the ball loose. The Colonels recovered the ball and went on to beat the Racers, 24-21. BELOW: Behind the solid blocking of All-OVC guard Dean Stucky, fullback Dale Patton charges up the middle for a big gain. Patton was also an All-OVC performer and gained 985 yards last year.

East Tennessee provided the opposition for the Colonels as they opened the home part of their schedule at Hanger Field. The Buccaneers left the OVC to join the Southern Conference and the Colonels gave them a grand farewell. Alvin Miller and Dale Patton both rushed for over 100 yards and Patton scored three touchdowns as Eastern destroyed the Bucs, 49-6. Flanker David Booze caught TD passes of 21 and 51 yards as the Colonels amassed 642 total yards.

Clarksville, Tennessee and the Governors of Austin Peay were next for the Colonels. The defense, led by Joe Richard, Ricky Rhodes and Chris Roberts, manhandled the Gobs throughout the entire game, and the offense scored two TD's enroute to a 14-0 victory.

ABOVE: With great protection, Quarterback Bill Hughes prepares to fire a pass downfield. Hughes threw for 728 yards and he completed 47 of 89 aeriels, 52.8 percent. BELOW: Looking up the field, tailback Stan Mitchell scampers towards the goal line. Despite missing nearly half the season with an injury, Mitchell gained 613 yards in 118 carries.

The blitz continued against Middle Tennessee. Dale Patton bulled his way for 143 yards and scored three touchdowns as Eastern demolished the Blue Raiders 42-12 at Hanger Field. Quarterback Bill Hughes completed 7 of 8 passes for 112 yards, and connected with David Booze on a 68-yard scoring bomb.

Dayton, Ohio was freezing cold and so was the Colonels' running attack for most of the game. However, Bill Hughes had his best day passing for the maroon and white, hitting on 12 of 15 passes for 161 yards, and Dale Patton smashed across for two TD's as Eastern squeaked out a 17-16 victory, the fourth win in a row for the Colonels. The team was now sky high for the match with arch rival Western, in Bowling Green.

The Western game was the turning point of the season as far as the Colonels were concerned. Looking back, the heartbreaking 17-16 loss cost Eastern the OVC crown and a 9-1 record. Behind Dale Patton's 149 yards rushing, the Colonels carried a 16-7 lead into the final quarter, and had over 19,000 fans and an ABC-TV regional audience literally screaming.

But Western rallied back and with four seconds left, Kevin McGrath missed a field goal attempt, but was roughed. The second time he didn't miss and the Hilltoppers claimed a one point victory in one of the best rivalries in college football.

TOP LEFT: As he did 15 times last season, fullback Dale Patton crosses the goal line for another touchdown. Patton scored 96 points during the year to set a new school scoring record. LEFT: Reserve punter Rick Sang prepares to blast a punt away during the Morehead game. Sang took over the punting chore in midseason for an injured Joel Scrafton, and he averaged nearly 40 yards a punt. ABOVE: Members of Eastern's defensive unit swarm over a Murray State runningback. The defensive half of the maroon machine allowed only 11.8 points a game which led the OVC.

The Murray Racers were the homecoming victim as the Colonels struggled to a 24-21 win. With the Western game still in the minds of many of the players, Eastern looked sluggish during much of the contest. Freshman Jerry Parish returned a kickoff 99 yards for a touchdown and Patton scored two others while racking up 119 yards on the ground.

The Colonels hit the road again, traveling to Tennessee Tech to face the Golden Eagles. Tech jumped out to a 16-0 lead at the half and Eastern looked as if they had sleeping sickness. Whatever was said in the locker room fired up the team because the Colonels exploded for 20 points in the third quarter and then held on for a 20-16 victory.

UPPER LEFT: Charles Brunson, with Terry Humphrey providing back up support, heads off upfield on his 50 yard punt return against Akron. Brunson filled in for Joel Scrafton at safety and did a super job. BELOW: Starting an option play, Bill Hughes prepares to pitch to Dale Patton. These two provided Colonel fans with plenty of excitement throughout the season.

The newest member of the OVC, The Akron Zips came to Hanger Field to do battle with the maroon and white. The Zips won't be eligible for conference play until 1980 and after a 35-14 blitz by the Colonels, Akron is probably thinking twice about joining. Stan Mitchell rushed for 95 yards and Dale Patton had 94 as Eastern shot away to a 35-0 lead and coasted to their seventh victory.

For the last six years, the Colonels have not lost a game to the Morehead Eagles. It is now seven, as the Colonels bombarded Morehead, 30-0 in the season finale. Mitchell scampered for 133 yards and scored two touchdowns. Patton had two more TD's to put his total at 15, breaking the school record of 13 set by Alfred Thompson in 1973. Patton's 96 points also broke Thompson's record of most points in a season by 16 points.

David Flores broke the school record for the most points scored by a kicker (59) and had a span of 60 straight extra points before one was blocked in the Morehead game. In two years, Flores is 63 for 64.

Eastern: Kings Of The OVC

Basketball is BACK and it's alive and well and here to stay in Richmond, Kentucky. The Colonels have definitely established themselves as a basketball power, thanks to third year coach Ed Byhre.

Byhre has taken the Colonels from being the door-mat of the league to becoming the outright champion of the OVC, winning the regular season title with a 9-3 conference record and then winning the post season tournament which decides the OVC representative in the NCAA Tournament.

The Colonels finished the year with a record of 21-8, their best since 1946-47. They competed in the NCAA Mideast Regionals, losing to Tennessee 97-81 in their first tournament appearance since 1971-72.

One of the main reasons for the Colonels overall success was James "Turk" Tillman. Tillman, a junior transfer from Maryland, broke no less than four school records in leading Eastern to the OVC crown.

UPPER RIGHT: James "Turk" Tillman fires up one of his patented jump shots during the Colonels 73-69 victory over the Murray Racers. Tillman had a tremendous season for the Colonels, averaging 26.9 points a game. RIGHT: Speeding up the court, Bruce Jones drives past his Morehead opponent. Jones dished out an OVC record 243 assists during the year and was one of the main reasons the Colonels won the OVC Championship.

LEFT: Junior center Dave Bootcheck drives around an Urbana defender for a layup during the game in Alumni Coliseum. Bootcheck scored 15 points in the 115-61 blowout of the Blue Knights. RIGHT: "Take That!" Vic Merchant seems to be saying as he slams home a tremendous stuff shot against archrival Western Kentucky. Western defeated Eastern twice during the regular season but the Colonels won the OVC Tournament with a thrilling 78-77 victory over the Hilltoppers.

Tillman scored 780 points, made 309 field goals, shot 591 times and averaged 26.9 points a game, fourth highest in the nation. He scored over 30 or more points eight times over the course of the season and went past the 40 point barrier twice.

Turk was a unanimous selection as "OVC Player of the Year" and was named Sports Illustrated's "National Player of the Week" during the month of February.

Eastern ran off two six game winning streaks during the season. Included among its victims were powerful Dayton, North Carolina-Charlotte and West Virginia. The Colonels also ended up ninth in the nation in team scoring, averaging 86.6 points a game, and went over the 100 point barrier five times.

Consistency and teamwork were two strong points of the Colonels during the 1978-79 season. Along with Tillman, Bruce Jones averaged 13.7 points a game and dished out 243 assists, setting a new OVC record. Eastern also handed out 561 assists as a team to set another OVC mark.

Kenny Elliott averaged 12.7 points while Vic Merchant, Dave Bootcheck and junior college transfer Dale Jenkins were all close behind at 9.4, 6.8 and 6.1 respectfully.

UPPER RIGHT: Leaving Morehead's Glen Napier nailed to the floor, Bruce Jones floats toward the basket and drops in a layup during the Colonels 97-95 victory over the Eagles.

UPPER LEFT: Powering through two Morehead defenders, Senior Kenny Elliott muscles towards the basket. Elliott finished his four years with the maroon and white amassing 1353 points. LEFT: Exulting in victory, Head Coach Ed Byhre bearhugs Assistant Coach Bobby Washington after the Colonels upset powerful independent Dayton 72-70 before a vocal crowd of 5,800 in Alumni Coliseum. Byhre led Eastern to the OVC Championship, a 21-8 record and was named "OVC Coach of the Year."

Byhre's three year record at Eastern is 44-34 and to cap off this outstanding season, Byhre was named "OVC Coach of the Year" by his fellow mentors.

Kenny Elliott ended his career at Eastern as the sixth leading scorer in Colonel history; he left with 1,353 points. Merchant and Chris Williams also hang up the uniforms after successful stints with the maroon and white.

With nine players returning for next year and with some super transfers waiting in the wings, the Colonels should be even better next year. Because once you reach the top, you don't ever want to come down.

Bootcheck had a subpar year for the Colonels as early season injuries limited his playing time. LEFT: Not only can he score and play defense, guard Bruce Jones can rebound, too. Here, he steals a carom from Butler's Larry Lubs during the Colonels' 104-81 romp before 4,500 in Alumni Coliseum.

3 1/2 SECONDS

Time started ticking away back in October when the Colonels started practice ... it did not stop as they tipped off their 21-8 season against Northern Kentucky ... the "grand instructor" taught valuable lessons on the road in Missouri ... continued to run despite a frigid fieldhouse in Toledo. Its relentless countdown continued through a frantic

OVC season as the Colonels marched their way to a 9-3 slate and the championship. There were games in which time flew ... others when it seemed to stand still, and one in which it lingered a bit as the long grueling season came down to three and one-half seconds for the right to represent the Ohio Valley Conference in the NCAA tournament.

TO GO

As the capacity crowd stood to watch time take its toll, Kenny Elliott arched his soft jumper toward the basket with three seconds plus remaining. In the ensuing scuffle, it was Dave Tierney for whom time waited, as his free throws won the game.

The eternity of those last seconds was a touch of heaven, a bit of hell . . . as the final seconds flashed by, there was a soft jump shot by Kenny Elliott that paused silently on the rim amid the din of 6500 fans as ten men, bent on making time work to their advantage, watched and muscled their way to the boards. The ball dropped off . . . another shot . . . another miss and more frantic war under the boards . . . another shot, another miss . . . where had the time gone. It had run out, according to the men in red, but the men in the black and white stripes who made the decision were not so sure, and the book says that even time must obey the rules.

So, there was time for two final dramatic free throws from a former walk-on

The OVC champion Colonels hosted the two-day tournament to decide the NCAA representative from the conference. It was, for them, a time to beat the odds by defeating Middle Tennessee for the third time this season, and reverse those odds to defeat Western after two season losses to the Hilltoppers.

It was two action-packed nights which saw James Tillman star against Middle's Blue Raiders on opening night, and then to sit in the wings to see his teammates battle Western for the tourney bid. Sans Tillman, the crafty court direction of Bruce Jones, the senior savvy of Kenny Elliott and Vic Merchant, the inspired play of Dave Bootcheck, and the season's highest drama with Dave Tierney's two free throws combined to extend the Colonels season by 40 minutes 3 and ½ seconds.

who tossed them ever so confidently through the hoop.

Eastern 78, Western 77! Time to celebrate and make plans for Tennessee.

NCAA MIDEAST REGIONALS 1979

Murfreesboro, Tennessee was the site of the first round of the 43rd annual NCAA National Championship Tournament's Mideast Regional between the Tennessee Volunteers and the Eastern Kentucky Colonels.

Eastern Kentucky won the Ohio Valley Conference post-season tournament which determines the league's representative in the 40 team tournament. Tennessee was the champion of the Southeastern Conference Tournament and each team was making it's fifth NCAA appearance.

Over 500 Colonel fans made their way to Murfreesboro to cheer for Eastern. Although the crown was predominantly for Tennessee, the vocal Colonel supporters definitely made their presence known to everyone.

Eastern quickly ran out to a 15-5 first half lead, and held the lead for nearly all of the first half, until the Tennessee size began to wear down the Colonels and when the horn sounded, the Volunteers had grabbed a 44-38 lead.

The Colonels hung close, thanks to some long range shooting and with 14 minutes to go in the game, the Tennessee lead was only four points at 54-50.

The Volunteers inside game went to work and reeled off a 24-10 spurt over the next eight minutes to push ahead 78-60 and the Vols never looked back in coasting to a 97-81 victory over the Colonels.

James "Turk" Tillman led all scorers with 21 points but the Colonels lack of size told the story as Tennessee amassed a 53-39 edge on the boards.

LOWER LEFT: Under heavy pressure by the Colonels Bruce Jones, Tennessee's Bert Bertelkamp fires a pass across to a teammate during the NCAA first round game at Murfreesboro, Tenn. Jones outscored his counterpart guard, 12 to 2, but Tennessee won the game 97-81. BELOW: Volunteer Terry Crosby fouls Kenny Elliott as he drives in towards the basket. Elliott scored 11 points in the 97-81 loss and ended his four year career at Eastern as the fifth all-time leading scorer.

Stretching to the State

BELOW: Gasping for breath as he churns through the water during a leg of the breaststroke is senior Kent Pleasants.

BELOW: Showing good form, Ray House is set to make a big splash in the 100-meter freestyle.

It's been a long time coming, but the electrifying Eels of Head Coach Dan Lichty are once again State Champions of Kentucky. Eastern set five pool records and totaled nine lifetime best swims. As the Eels ran away from the field in compiling 17 first place finishes and amassing 759 points for their first state title in five years.

Stating the fact the Eels were "facing the most difficult dual meet schedule we've ever had", Lichty put his team through some of the toughest training and it paid off as they swam to a 3-4 dual-meet record and a second place finish in the Midwest Independent Championships as they compiled 10 lifetime best swims in the process. Sophomore Chris Gray, from Nashville, Tennessee, was consistent for the Eels throughout the season and he set three new school records in the 1,650, 1,000 and 500-meters freestyle.

Lichty's squad is dominated by underclassmen; he loses only four seniors, so the Eels should be on their way to making a big charge in the water world real soon.

A Very Unbalanced Season

Facing the toughest schedule in their history, the men's gymnastic team struggled to a 3-10 dual meet record, but from an individual standpoint, there were many outstanding performances.

The gymnasts set a new school record with a 184.90 team total against Memphis State and Georgia Tech, and five individual records were set, including an All-around record of 50.15 by captain Tony Webber and an 8.75 mark on the parallel bars by Guy Watson.

The season was also marked by tragedy. Watson broke his arm in the final regular season meet against Jacksonville State and he ended his career at Eastern as the school record holder on the rings and the parallel bars.

Head Coach Jerry Calkin can look ahead to next season as only three seniors graduate from this year's squad leaving the 1979-80 season to be one of depth, experience and quality.

GYMNASTICS

UPPER RIGHT: The style, grace and beauty in gymnastics is exemplified here on the balance beam by freshman Kathy Goode. Poetry in Motion

Relying on a team of mostly freshmen and sophomores, the women's gymnastics team under Head Coach Agnes Chrietberg improved throughout the entire season and finished their 1978-79 season with a sparkling 11-3 record and ended up 15th in the nation in the AIAW National Championships held at Penn State.

Sophomore Rhonda Wilkerson from Paris, Kentucky, along with Freshmen Laura Spencer, Kathy Goode and Cheryl Behne, and Senior Beth Miles, were mainstays on the squad that powered their way to victories over 10th ranked Louisville and 17th ranked Georgia while reeling off a five match winning streak during the season.

Although the team is very young, they showed experience during the year as they were very consistent on numerous pieces of gymnastic equipment, such as the balance beam, parallel bars and the vaulting horse; and it paid off in a new team scoring record of 135.20 points against Indiana.

After participating in the KWIC Championships, the women will begin preparing for next season, because as the saying goes, "you're not getting older, you're getting better".

UPPER RIGHT: Laura Spencer does the splits while performing a handstand on the balance beam. Spencer, only a freshman, preformed very consistently throughout the year for the women gymnasts and recorded a high score of 9.15 on the beam. BELOW: Rhonda Wilkerson performs a difficult routine on the uneven parallel bars. Wilkerson had the seasons high score in the All-around competition, scoring 34.25 which is a new school record.

When things don't go right, everything seems to fall apart. Such is what happened to the Women's Basketball team. After posting a respectable 12-15 record in 1977-78, the women's dreams of improvement literally collapsed and they struggled to a 5-24 mark this year.

The Lady Colonels could never get on the winning track as they suffered through losing streaks of nine and five games. However they did manage to defeat OVC teams Austin Peay, Murray and Middle Tennessee, and Big 10 power Indiana during the course of the season.

Senior Peggy Gay led the Lady Colonels in scoring throughout the year with a 17.8 average. Loretta Coughlin and Sandy Grieb along with newcomer Sandra Mukes were also very consistent for Head Coach Shirley Duncan who had to start mainly underclassmen for much of the year.

With only three seniors graduating from the squad, and 11 players returning, the women must look forward to next year, for they have nowhere to go but up.

UPPER RIGHT: Powering over a Morehead defender and dropping in a layup is freshman Sandra Mukes. Always on Target

The rifle team, under the command of Sergeant Nelson Beard shot their way to another outstanding season despite the loss of All-American Robert Montgomery as they ended the season with a 3-2 dual meet record and a second place finish in the annual Little Camp Perry shootout.

Montgomery, a sophomore from Enid, Oklahoma, had to leave the team at the end of the fall semester, citing personal reasons. But he is expected to return to Eastern this fall. Montgomery was a member of the 10 man elite squad picked by the National Rifle Association.

Other members of this year's team include, Sue Floer, Kevan Jones, Judy Kaufman, Karen Long, Dan Durbin, Bart Leist, Danny Carrette and the team's only senior, Jay James.

With everyone returning next year and the hopeful return of Montgomery, Beard is not kidding when he says, "Next year we should be in the top three teams in the nation."

The 1978 Cross country season for Coach Art Harvey's harriers must have seemed like a broken record, for in nearly every meet they competed in it was the same old song: third place, third place, third place.

The harriers took third place finishes in the Kentucky Intercollegiate, the Marshall Invitational, the University of Kentucky Invitational and the OVC Championships Meet; the latter qualified them for the NCAA District III Meet in Greenville, South Carolina.

Doug Bonk (All-OVC in 1977 and 1978), Bill Morgan and Ed Strobach were the leaders on the team that battled through a tough fall schedule and showed tremendous improvement as the season progressed.

Only two of the squad's eleven members graduate, so the future looks brighter all the time. The Colonels have finished third in the OVC for the past two years, but with the experience of next years team maybe it will make the Colonels third time a charm.

Running on Empty

Some bad injuries destroyed the Lady Colonels' hopes for a return to the AIAW Championships, where they finished sixth in the nation in 1977. LEFT: An exhausted Vicky Renner crosses the finish line second in the Kentucky Intercollegiate meet that was held at the Arlington Country Club.

When the going gets tough, boy does it get bad. Just ask Sandy Martin, coach of the Women's Cross Country team. Martin lost three of her top runners to injuries at the start of the season and could not even field a complete squad over the entire year.

Sue Schaefer, Paula Gaston, and Peggy Painter all fell victim to painful injuries and the lady Colonels' dream to return to the AIAW Championships suddenly became a nightmare.

"Paula and Peggy had a form of tendonitis," said Martin, "and Sue broke a bone in her foot. These injuries really hurt our chances for a good season. Without them, I don't think anyone would be close to us."

Teri Spears, Nareen White and Vicky Renner ran very well for the lady harriers, especially Renner, who was suddenly thrust into the spotlight as the team's number one runner. She accepted the challenge and improved greatly over the '78 campaign.

Serve, Set, Spike . . . Super!

Relying on the experience of nine upper-classmen and a pool of freshman talent, Head Volleyball Coach Geri Polvino led her squad to a 22-18 regular season record and a third place finish in the Kentucky Women's Intercollegiate Conference Championships.

The team had its ups and downs during the course of the season and could not seem to find the right combination of players until the state tournament, but that's when seniors Evy Abell, Paula Tipton, along with newcomer Nancy Stoeckle provided some much needed leadership in pacing the spikers to the third place finish in the KWIC tournament.

Other highlights for the women were: first place finishes in the Greensboro and Kentucky Invitionals, a third place showing in their own EKU Invitational, and defeating Michigan State, a nationally ranked team in 1977.

"I'm very proud of my team," said Coach Polvino. "They have done a super job all year. We only lose three girls so we should be strong competition for the State and Regional titles next year."

They're Causing Quite a Racquet!

Fielding one of the strongest teams in Eastern history, the Women's Tennis team began the year with an eight match winning streak and finished one of their finest seasons ever, posting a 12-2 regular season record.

The lady netters smashed through such national powers as Louisville, Purdue, Mississippi State and Vanderbilt. The women lost only to Kentucky and Tennessee over the course of the season.

The women finished second to Kentucky in the KWIC Championships and along with the Wildcats, represented the state in the AIAW Regionals.

Second seed Deanna Addis and third seed Mendy Jackson won the KWIC individual title in singles play, and the two combined to take the crown in the number two doubles.

No.1 seed Mary Hochwalt, No.4 Priscilla Nelson, No.5 Nancy Elder, No.6 Rita Olins, along with Addis and Jackson, all return for Coach Martha Mullins next year.

The Women's field hockey team, under new head coach Lynn Harvel, underwent a complete turn-around from last year's 3-8 record, reeling off winning streaks of four and five games en route to a 12-7-1 record and a second place finish in the KWIC State tournament, behind state champion Louisville.

The Louisville game had to be the high point of the season for the lady Colonels. After defeating Kentucky and Asbury in the semifinals they took the Cardinals into four overtimes before falling 1-0. Other highlights were a first place finish in the VPI Invitational, and a 2-1 victory over Dayton, state champion of Ohio.

Captain Linda Marchese, Debbie Condreva, Monica Keifer and goalkeeper Carmen Shannon were outstanding for the lady Colonels during the season, especially Shannon who paved the way for many of the victories by posting seven shutouts.

"When you look at how tough our schedule was, we had an exceptional year," said Harvel. "We have a fairly young team and should be real strong next year."

Campuswide Excitement

Campuswide Excitement

The numerous activities and events sponsored each year by the Intramural Department continue to grow in support as the best way for students on campus to have fun and enjoy themselves.

The old favorites, like flag football, softball, and basketball continued to be the most widely supported by men and women alike. However, the Club sports sponsored by the department such as, fast pitch softball, soccer, volleyball and rugby are beginning to come into their own as well.

Athletic fields all over campus are continually in use, showing that student interest in intramurals is here to stay.

HONORS

To accomplish goals or exceed expectations, our work has been recognized.

Richard Williams Chosen for Hall of Fame

Richard J. Williams, with a 3.93 grade point average, was named as the recipient of the Hall of Fame Award. Hard work earned Richard the American Dietetics Association Undergraduate Award for 1978-1979, a long with the Mary K. Burrier Scholarship Award, the top academic awards of the Department of Economics. Richard was also selected for membership in the Collegiate Pentacle, Eastern's senior honor society, and appointed to Curriculum Committee of the Department of Home Economics, which is responsible for evaluating all proposed changes in the curriculum.

Richard also addressed several local organizations on the value of nutrition, and was twice a guest speaker on WEKU-FM on the same subject.

Richard held the office of President of the Beta Tau Chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron. He was also selected as District Representative for the same organization.

Honor Roll

Eastern's Milestone presents the 1979 Honor Roll. So that the qualities of good character, leadership and service do not go unrewarded, the Milestone honors those who exhibited these characteristics in abundance. By possessing these attributes Joy Shamhart Fowler, Deborah Sue Bright, Stephen Starbuck Fowler, Sally Ann Moore and Kirk D. Denney were nominated for this honor by their respective colleges.

TOP: KIRK D. DENNEY, with a 3.96 grade point average, was nominated for the Honor Roll. Kirk served as president of the Art Student Association his junior year. Kirk was also a member of the National Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi. RIGHT: SALLY ANN MOORE, was nominated by the College of Law Enforcement for Honor Roll. Sally has a major in Corrections and a minor in Sociology. She received the Outstanding Junior in Corrections Award in 1977, as well as a four-year Alumni Scholarship in 1975.

Students Recognized For Achievements

TOP LEFT: JOY SHAMHART FOWLER, was selected for the Honor Roll by the College of Allied Health and Nursing for her performance as a nursing student. Joy served as the student representative to the faculty of the Baccalureate Department of Nursing, and she was a member of the B.S. Nurses' Association for three years. ABOVE: DEBORAH SUE BRIGHT, was the Honor Roll candidate from the College of Education. As an elementary education major, Deborah was active in Kappa Delta Sorority. Deborah was the editor of Pan Scan, a newspaper for all Pan-hellenic sororities. Deborah was also a member of the Association of Childhood Education, and the Human Development and Family Relations Club. LEFT: STEPHEN STARBUCK, was recognized as a honor student in accounting. Stephen selected by the College of Business, had an overall grade point average of 3.77. Stephen received several honors such as National Phi Delta Theta Educational Foundation Scholarship, Cooper and Lybrand Student, and Most Likely to Succeed in Public Accounting.

Who's Who Names Outstanding Seniors

The reputation of Eastern's College of Law Enforcement convinced Kevin B. Quinn, a Correctional Service major, to study here. Kevin served as president of Alpha Phi Sigma and was a member of the Association of Law Enforcement. He also worked as an officer at Blackburn Correctional Complex. Kevin graduated with a G.P.A. of 3.5.

Graduating with a BBA in Accounting, Marilyn Fleshman feels Eastern has provided her with a well-rounded college experience. Marilyn served as the Phi Mu Sorority treasurer and public relations director, vice-president of Sigma Tau Pi. She was a member of Rho Epsilon, the Accounting Club, and was a Sigma Pi little sister.

Michael Stuart Schwendeman graduated with a 3.7 G.P.A. and a BA in history. He was duly recognized in Phi Alpha Phi Honor Society, Phi Alpha Theta History Honorary Society and received the Sigma Nu Fraternity Scholarship Key in 1978. He served his fraternity as treasurer and scholastic chairman and participated in the Oratorio Chorus in 1975, 1976 and 1978.

Recipient of a Presidential Scholarship, Deborah A. Jamison earned a B.B.A. in Accounting with a 3.9 G.P.A. She also received the Richards Scholarship, the Kentucky Society of CPA's Scholarship and the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society Award. Deborah served as secretary of the Accounting Club and was a member of Phi Beta Lambda.

Polly McDavitt graduated with a BS in Business Administration with a G.P.A. of 3.86. While at Eastern Polly received many honors: fourth place State Accounting Award in Phi Beta Lambda, Collegiate Pentacle, Phi Kappa Phi and a Presidential Scholarship. She was also involved in such organizations as the Accounting Club, Christian Student Fellowship, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship and the German Club.

Samuel James Simon was a history major and graduated with a G.P.A. of 3.87. Samuel was awarded with several scholarships and honoraries. They include: The Kerney Adams Award, outstanding scholarship in History, Phi Alpha Theta award and Phi Kappa Phi. Samuel was also a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Amy Luyster graduated with a G.P.A. of 3.5 in the field of Office Administration. While at Eastern Amy was involved in many campus organizations. She was active in the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority, Collegiate Pentacle, The Society for Advancement of Management. She was a learning lab Accounting tutor, and was appointed to Student Senate Special Library Committee. In 1976 Amy was chosen as Eastern's Homecoming Queen.

A Corrections major, Melissa Melville chose her major because her father is a police officer. Melissa is a reserve police officer in her hometown, Southgate. While at Eastern she was Commander for two years of the Valienettes, a member of Collegiate Pentacle, a Sigma Pi little sister, Phi Kappa Phi, and was in the Association of Law Enforcement. Melissa graduated with a G.P.A. of 3.82.

John Meisenheimer was co-captain of the swimming team and president of the E-Club. He also served as treasurer of the Caduceas Club, a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Collegiate Pentacle, and Phi Sigma, a biological science honorary. He was awarded the Cox Scholarship, the SMAP Scholarship and received a scholar-athlete award. John was a Pre-Medical Science major and graduated with a G.P.A. of 3.94.

Honoraries Excel in Communication

Delta Sigma Rho is an honorary fraternity which has as its purpose to train students to think critically and to express these thoughts in clear, logical written form. Members of Delta Sigma Rho learned to analyze everyday communication; these analyses were intended to help the members with communication when they begin their various careers.

Upon graduation, members often become lawyers, mediators, or fill managerial positions. This is when their communicative skills given them benefits them and their communities.

The members participated in various forensic tournaments at universities throughout the region. They also helped in the judging assignments of regional speech festivals held during the spring semester.

The English honor society Sigma Tau Delta recognized and encouraged superior scholarship in the study of English. It was open to students who maintained a cumulative grade point average of 3.0.

Sigma Tau Delta tried to provide for its members the opportunity to view a wide scope of literary accomplishments, both professional and non-professional. Projects such as poetry readings, theater parties, and the English dinner helped Sigma Tau Delta to realize this goal.

Sigma Tau Alpha is an honorary service society. It carried out the theme of service by helping the Red Cross with the blood mobile, working in student elections, and making a Christmas contribution to the Foster Children of Madison County. They held a dance-a-thon for Cystic Fibrosis and planned a mini-marathon for next fall for the same charity.

Lambda Sigma is the sophomore honorary which fosters leadership, scholarship, fellowship and the spirit of service with its organization, while promoting the interests of Eastern Kentucky University.

Lambda Sigma is a service organization. It helped the Lions Club with one of its projects in the fall. Its members periodically visited nursing homes and orphanages in the area, and donated canned goods to the Richmond Food Bank.

The group met bi-weekly to facilitate fellowship among the members, and sponsored group outings with other Lambda Sigma chapters.

Student Government Provides Arts and

The Student Senate is an elected body which represents each college on campus. Its purpose is to provide the students at Eastern with a representative voice in the policy and decision-making process of the university community and to promote communication and understanding within and beyond the campus. The Senate was very active in helping the University and community. It held the Arts and Crafts Fair in the Fall and Spring. Proceeds from these fairs went to the scholarship fund for the children of Scotia mine disaster victims. Other projects the Senate sponsored were travel packages for students, freshmen records, student book exchange, survival handbook, Free University, and Brockton commission.

The Executive Cabinet is an advising board of committee members for assisting the President of the Senate in making decisions.

Their job is to report on their individual committees and their recent activities, which will be discussed in the Senate meetings.

The Student Court is appointed by the president. They are not members of the senate, must maintain a certain grade point, and are confirmed by the Senate.

The function of the Court is to resolve any problems which may arise from concerned students. They also handle any assignments for investigation under request of President Powell.

Interdorm Attend OVC Conference

Women's Interdormitory Board is one of three governing bodies on campus. Its purpose is to initiate and promote change to improve conditions of women residing on Eastern's campus, and to continue to create a better understanding between the administration and women students residing on Eastern Kentucky University's campus.

The organization gave its elected members a voice in student government and a chance to serve their fellow dorm residents. Women's Interdorm carried out projects for local charities such as Madison County Foster Parent Association and Madison County Retarded Children's Association. They sponsored various campus wide activities such as Little Sister Weekend, Las Vegas Night, A Halloween Bash, Christmas Social, and OVC Interdorm Conference.

Organizations Show Concern For Students

Men's Interdormitory Board is a group of men representing each residence hall. They exhibited leadership and concern for all aspects of life in ECU dormitories. They help sponsor programs and serve as the policy recommending body to the Council on Student Affairs.

Along with the Women's Interdormitory Board, they have projected many new and established old policies for our campus such as the revision of open-house, meal-plan evaluation, parking evaluation, fire safety reports, and residence hall staff evaluation.

A special project, such as, Monster Bash was held in the Keene Johnson ballroom during Halloween to help raise funds for the Madison County Foster Parent Association.

The Social Work Club acquainted students with the pressing issues in social work and encouraged students to serve the community through social programs. The club expressed their view in the Social Work curriculum planning and faculty selection. Members were informed about professional positions.

This year the club hosted the Third Annual Kentucky Coalition of Student Social Workers Conference; its theme was "Human Diversity: Appreciation and Celebration of Difference."

MBA Request National Charter

The MBA (Master of Business Administration Association), an organization of graduates who are pursuing the MBA degree, strives to gather together graduates whose common objective through a rigorous curriculum is the MBA degree. The MBA Association brings these students together so they can share their knowledge and expertise with each other.

The Association helps to instill confidence in its members through organized tutoring. It also is a positive indicator of initiative and social adaptiveness.

The MBA tutors various activities directed at the undergraduate curriculum in business. Currently, the Association is researching the possibility of acquiring a charter membership to the AMBA, a national professional business association.

Practical Experiences — Future Careers

The Accounting Club acquaints students with their future duties by providing an atmosphere that the classroom cannot. Guest speakers and field trips help prepare members to be professional accountants.

The club provided students having trouble in accounting with tutors, and established a cost-free tax return service for Richmond residents.

A professional business organization, Phi Beta Lambda strives to develop vocational and career competencies as well as civic responsibilities. They attended a national contest in San Francisco and won first in parliamentary procedure. Their national conference was in New Orleans.

Clubs Acquaint Members With Majors

The Health Records Student Organization of Kentucky provides its members with an understanding of their selected field. They entertained outside speakers which helped keep the members up to date.

Working for the Red Cross Blood Mobile was a special project of the members. They also sold candy bars to enable other activities.

The Student Chapter National Environmental Health Association Club was organized on Eastern's campus to make students aware of environmental health. The club tries to present the students, as well as the community, with various aspects of environmental health. Some of its achievements include helping the city with rodent control and holding a car wash to raise money for their club.

Professionals Benefit Club Members

The Student National Education Association provides an understanding of the teaching profession for the prospective teachers who are enrolled in the educational field. The Association participated in the Fall Leadership Conference Workshop in Lexington and the State Convention held in the spring.

Working with the bloodmobile is one way the Caduceus Club offered practical experience to its pre-med, pre-dental, pre-pharmacy, pre-optometry, medical technology, pre-veteranarian, physical therapy, and nursing members. They also listened to speakers from admissions boards of professional schools.

These activities helped stimulate individual and campus interest in medical related fields.

Clubs Prepare Members For Work

The American Society of Interior Designers is a national chapter. Its purpose is to help its members with the professional world. Members benefit from information of job openings, design contests, and scholarships through speakers and field trips.

The Food and Nutrition Club promotes the professions of dietetics, nutritional care and food service management. Among their educational experiences, some members went to New Orleans to the American Dietetics Association meeting. A movie on dietetics was produced and a spaghetti supper was held as a money-making project.

The Council on International Relations and United Nations Affairs was an academic club devoted to studying world affairs, disseminating information about the United Nations and raising the awareness of students concerning current international events. Membership was open to all E.K.U. students.

Ciruna held activities such as debates, panel discussions, and guest lecturers. The club chose delegates who represented Eastern at national and regional Model United Nations, and sponsored E.K.U. United Nations Day Seminar, which was open to the public.

The German Club kept busy this past year. The club offered a tutoring service for German students, helped at nursing homes, built a homecoming float, and obtained and distributed information on the trips to Europe. They also held a Franco-Prussian picnic with the French Club, went Christmas caroling and helped work on Foreign Language Day on Campus in the Spring.

Guest Speakers Enlighten ALE

The Association of Law Enforcement gave Eastern's law enforcement majors, minors, and graduate students an opportunity to join a career-oriented law enforcement organization. The club was very active hearing speakers such as Mary Jarrett, Barry Pain, chief constable of Kent, England; and F. Lee Bailey. ALE held a field trip to LaGrange and Jefferson County Police Departments in the fall and sponsored a Christmas party for the children of Madison County Foster Parents Association. They held their annual Career Day in which Federal, State, and Local law enforcement agencies came to Eastern to recruit students to their departments. The Association also conducted a four day Bicycle Registration Program in co-operation with Eastern's Department of Public Safety. Besides these activities, ALE held a fall hayride, Spring Social, car washes, parties, and banquets.

MP's Receive Practical Experience

The Military Police Company is an organization whose purpose is twofold: first, to serve the university community, and military science department through traffic control, color guards, and other requested duties; the second is to offer brotherhood and sisterhood to all of its members.

Members benefit by gaining experience in military and law enforcement related activities. The Military Police Company gave instruction in small fire arms firing and in traffic control to its members. The organization also provided blood for the Bloodmobile, provided traffic control for the city, and supplied color guards for community functions. The Military Police also participated in a field training exercise.

Groups Help With Jerry Lewis Telethon

Representing Eastern Kentucky University on the national collegiate level at military drill competitions are the Pershing Rifles. The military oriented fraternity is a fine drill team holding the John Archer Memorial Award, Honor Company Second Battalion, and Honor Company First Regiment.

The purpose of the Pershing Rifles is to provide leadership, discipline, and military learning. To achieve this purpose the Pershing Rifles provide social functions, travel opportunities, and an atmosphere of brotherhood. Serving the school and community the PR's provide a detail at home football games, work at the Jerry Lewis Telethon, serve as guides for band day, and usher at the Founders Day Din-

The female counterpart are the Valianettes. They are a drill team which provides sisterhood, fosters the same purposes, and participate in similar competitive events as the PR's.

Semper Fidelis — ROTC Play Football

Semper Fidelis is an active group of men at EKU interested in aspects of the U.S. Marine Corps. Members profit from a more intensive education dealing with defense structure and other activities concerning the Marines. Organizational benefits range from extra recreation-oriented duties and physical fitness development, to a unique bond of fellowship. Plans for a community footrace are on the boards as a service project for the club. Semper Fidelis played football against EKU's ROTC and also ran the U.S. flag in a memorial run relay from Richmond to Frankfort.

The Association of the United States Army is an ROTC Co-Curricular organization. Its purposes were for ROTC cadets to find incentives for increasing their military skills, to receive information about the position of the Army, and to come in contact with other cadets and military personnel.

The members learned more about the Army and its defenses. They increase their military skills and knowledge. The Association held its annual basketball tournament and took its annual trip to the nation's capitol, Washington, D.C.

Clubs Promote Action In Development

The Recreation Club is organized to bring together interested people in the recreation and park profession. The club was designed to aid the personal and professional developments of these students within a social-academic atmosphere.

Field trips included a backpacking excursion to the Red River Gorge, and a spelunking outing at Mammoth Cave.

The Chosun Cats is a Co-curricular Military Science and ROTC organization. Their purpose is to provide each member with knowledge and proficiency in Taekwondo, a martial art, to achieve harmony of mind, body, and the physical world; and to develop a strong unity between the members. The organization taught modesty, confidence, perseverance, self-control, and leadership.

The Chosun Cats conducted demonstrations for Cub

Scouts and performed at ROTC Day.

Organizations Broaden Members Lives

Physical Education Majors and Minors club helps to place its members in the education field, give them experience, and tries to raise professional standards and ethics.

Each year there is a Health, Physical Education, and Recreational convention, which enables the members of these three groups to get together and combine the ideas of each into a meaningful whole. This past year the PEMM Club attempted to change the curriculum, making male and female standards equal in the educational field.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes has as its purpose to confront athletes and coaches, and through them the youth of the nation with the challenge of accepting Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord. During the year they entertained speakers and films, and helped underprivileged children by taking them to ballgames. They raked leaves for elderly people as their community project.

BSU Stresses Christian Fellowship

Christian fellowship is the main goal of the Baptist Student Union on Eastern's Campus. Activities on campus such as workshops, Bible Study, ministry and social life provide the members with enrichment within themselves and fellow members.

The B.S.U. provides a variety of ministries to the community. These include nursing home visitations, and afternoon children's program, a ministry to high school students, and a prison ministry. Small performing groups are also a pleasant event for churches and club programs.

Methodist Center Stresses Involvement

The United Methodist Campus Center, a religious service organization, was established to maintain a Methodist Ministry for the Eastern Kentucky University community.

Benefits for the members were threefold: The center sponsored social and spiritual fellowship opportunities; encouraged educational involvement, and provided recreation.

As a service organization UMCC involved itself in such projects as Adopt-a-house, UNICEF collections, and regular visits to nursing homes. Members traveled to churches throughout Kentucky to sing, and spread the good news.

Clubs Provide Services For Schools and Public

The Women's Officiating Service is a service club dedicated to improving female sports programs. The WOS prepares officials for events on and off campus.

The WOS helped the Intramural Department officiate the intramural games which gave members experience. They also held workshops and clinics for improvement of officiating skills and worked with the Women's Volleyball Team as auxiliary officials.

Circle K is a community service organization with the theme "impact of life."

The club is very active in the community, helping the Kiwanis raise money and assisting in a Halloween party for the Telford Center. They have regular visits to the Shriners' Children Hospital and new this year was toy making for underprivileged children. They also hold an annual Easter egg hunt. In the spring they go to their International and District Conventions.

KDT's Sponsor Girl Scout Troop

Kappa Delta Tau is a service organization made up of women who benefit the campus and community. They worked several projects: collecting money for UNICEF, sponsoring a Girl Scout Troop, assisting the Red Cross Blood Mobile, holding parties at Willis Manor and caroling at various hospitals.

The sorority's major project was helping their sister, Judy Aaron, who was injured in a car accident. They offered their moral support and funds for her hospital care. On campus they helped with Homecoming, student elections and served at numerous banquets. They are also active in Greek sponsored events and intramurals. Their Spring Formal was held at the Campbell House in Lexington.

The University Ensemble is an organization which sings Black Gospel Music; it is not connected with the University Music Department. The purpose of the University Ensemble is to promote and serve the brotherhood of all mankind; to disseminate and maintain the tradition of Black religious music, and to give the college student the opportunity to enjoy it.

Academics are stressed and those in need of help are assisted by members of the group. Helping students stay in contact with the church by doing programs each Sunday is a main concern of the Ensemble.

They also sing in the community and travel throughout the region. They represented Eastern at the National Black College Gospel Choir Workshop in Atlanta in the Spring.

The Art Students Association is a club designed to promote the further production of the fine arts. The club organized trips to museums and artistic events as well as club get togethers. They planned to paint a mural in downtown Richmond to promote an understanding of artistic endeavors.

The Eastern Dance Theatre produced two concerts this year, and performed at high schools and colleges. The dance club also helped celebrate National Dance Week by giving a concert and publicizing it.

The Eastern Dance Theatre offers men and women students the opportunity for creative dance, study, composition, and performance. It also stimulates interest in artistic and creative dance, while fostering in the community an understanding of dance as an art form.

FTD Sells Mums; Ag Wins Float

The collegiate Florist Transworld Delivery Chapter promotes professionalism in horticulture, by keeping its members aware of rapid changes. FTD prepared students for work after college by placing members in positions at state parks.

Members participated in plant day, football mums, and Valentine carnation sales.

The Agriculture Club is a service organization aimed at bettering the Ag Department and providing a social organization for Agriculture students.

The Ag Club sponsors trips to agricultural expositions for members; they also try and add improvements to the Ag building. They sponsored a cheese sale and firewood sale for a money-making project.

The Ag Club participated in homecoming by winning second place on their float.

Catalina Swims 'Monopoly'

The purpose of the Catalina Club is to provide creative experiences involving aquatic skills, rhythm, and design with opportunities to develop leadership, and co-operation.

Tryouts were held in September for any interested swimmers. Two workshops preceded tryouts in which prospects were taught some basic synchronized swimming techniques.

This past year, the Catalina Club sponsored several money-making projects in order to attend the National Institute of Creative Aquatics Symposium held at Florida State University. The symposium increased their skills and introduced new ideas.

The theme of the annual spring water show this year was "Monopoly." The performance pertained to the game Monopoly using certain deeds on the board as themes. A simulation of the actual playing of the game was portrayed. This original production required months of practice and hard work and aid from their advisors, Dr. Kirkpatrick and Ms. Rosale Baretta.

New Look With Rifle Corp

The 1978-79 Marching Maroons added a little excitement to their already outstanding halftime shows. A Rifle Corps was installed as a permanent member of the Band's Company. The band performed at each of Eastern's home football games and traveled to the Western game. Under the direction of Robert Hartwell the band did halftime shows pertaining to, best selling movies and the craze

'disco'. They also featured the alumni during the Homecoming game after marching in the annual parade.

The Marching Maroons are led by the field direction of Kim Hiles and Leslie Berkshire. Working hard with director Robert Hartwell these girls provide leadership within the band, and add an extra entertaining touch to the band's shows.

The Little Colonels drill corps performed at basketball and football games at which they helped promote school spirit. Clubs Hold Musical Review Workshop

The University Players conducted opening night receptions for each of the Theater Department's plays last year, and also produced their own musical review entitled "Welcome to the Theater." Their faculty advisor directed and choreographed the review, which was presented at Sutter's, and also at the Gifford Theater at a drama workshop for high schools.

The Omicron Psi chapter of Phi Mu Alpha encouraged and promoted high standards of creativity, performance, education and research in music.

The organization sponsored music workshops, and staged the Phi Mu Alpha Musical Variety Show. It also provided entertainment at various organizational functions.

Milestone Staff Conquers Problems

Producing a book of the size and scope of the 1979 Milestone was a difficult task, but its editors knew this before they ever undertook the task of compiling the yearbook and so were prepared to work the long hours. However, they could not be prepared for the unforeseeable obstacles that made their jobs all the harder.

Classes Editor Debbie Kegley, for instance, was not prepared when the studio hired to take pictures for her section sent those pictures back in such disorganization. Debbie and her staff spent many hours telephoning students to get information on their standing, majors and hometowns, all information that the studio was supposed to gather.

Organizations Editor Jill Secrest had to put up with a lot of nonsense from the organizations in her section, and faced many headaches in scheduling pictures for each organization.

Shelley Steele, Students Life Editor, sorted through thousands of pictures to find just the right ones for her section.

Copy Editor Barry Miller waded through mountains of words, and tried to put them into some order.

Academics Editor Kim Burns was plagued by disappearing staff members; she had eleven staffers over the course of the year, few of whom she ever saw more than once.

Kim Wharton, Index Editor, had to wait until the rest of the book was finished before she could do her job, and succeeded in her frantic rush to index the pages of the Milestone.

Sports Editor Chris Elsberry claimed that he had no problems.

And Editor-in-Chief Meg Hiles presided over the madness, trying to bring a method to it all. She faced disgruntled section editors, rebellious section editors, and discouraged section editors, helped them to finish their sections, and then united the sections into a book.

Publications Mean Hard Work

Larry Bailey, assistant director of public information, and Paul Lambert, University Photographer, headed the staff of photographers whose responsibility it was to capture the memories of 1978-79. The staff took and processed an unimaginable amount of prints so that the Milestone's editors could choose the best.

Besides their work for the Milestone, the photographers took pictures for the Eastern Progress, and for other photographic projects.

Editor Meg Hiles and her staff diligently worked to preserve the memories of the 1978-79 school year in the fifty-sixth edition of the Milestone. Section editors met at the beginning of the year to plan the completion of their sections of the book. They were assisted by the Delmar

Publishing company which offered their services.

The long hours of dedicated work were culminated by distributing books to the student. At the annual awards banquet, President J. C. Powell was presented with the official university copy; outstanding section editor, staff member and photographer awards were also given.

Students Publish Creative Literature

The literary magazine Aurora published works by Eastern students, and was produced by a student staff. Members of this staff encouraged creative writing on campus then judged which manuscripts to accept.

Aurora gave student writers an outlet for their creativity, while offering the Eastern community the opportunity to read the best in student writing.

To promote a greater number of submissions, the magazine offered cash prizes.

The Progress began the fall semester by introducing a new format and new features. The official student newspaper displayed weekly the hard work and talents of its student staff.

The Progress kept such features as the "People Poll" and "Forum" while adding a "P.S. Section" and coverage of city news.

Paste-up sessions were no longer held in Richmond as the process was moved to Cynthiana. The sessions required hard work and were at time hampered by winter weather.

In the end, the staff produced a fine publication showing their efforts to give students an informative and reliable newspaper.

Progress Editors Overcome Obstacles

The pressure of putting out a weekly newspaper is constant; it builds as deadline nears, and then when the final product comes out, the editors barely have time to catch their breath before they start again from scratch on the next week's edition. Fitting all the news into just a few pages, keeping up a staff ("attrition is a major factor," said Editor Mark Turner), and traveling to Cynthiana each week to print the paper were just a few of the obstacles Eastern Progress editors faced.

Besides these problems faced by the editors collectively, each editor encountered individual problems.

Managing Editor Elizabeth Palmer-Ball had to keep the copy flowing, and worried weekly about layout and photos.

Sarah Warren, News Editor, faced the problem of deciding what news was to be included, and what was to be left out, a difficult task when she had the added problem of cramming a week's worth of news into a few pages.

Features Editor Ginny Eager covered personalities and that was a monumental task on this campus.

Jim Thomason, Business Manager, dealt with all the financial aspects, a crucial part of any publication.

Robin Pater was faced with the challenge of covering over 100 organizations on merely one page.

Sports Editor Ken Tingley had three pages in which to cover the Eastern sports world.

Arts Editor Larry Bernard was in the midst of constant controversy. Speaking out frankly concerning the state of the arts at Eastern, Bernard's criticism gained him critics of his own.

Besides writing weekly editorials, Editor Mark Turner directed the operation of putting the paper to press.

Greek Life Provides Fulfilling

Becoming involved with the Greek system at Eastern Kentucky University is one way in which students are able to achieve their sought-after expectations of college life. Being a member of the fraternity or sorority of one's choice is a fulfilling experience. Growth, leadership, and responsibility center around all Greeks' goals.

1978-1979 found many Greeks celebrating their 10th Anniversary. Dinners, parties and get-togethers were held to welcome back their founders. Many changes have taken place in the last ten years concerning Greek involvement:

The chance to express oneself whether it is in the field of altruism, service, athletics, arts or scholastic achievement has made it possible through involvement with not only one's own affiliation but with the entire Greek system.

Experiences For Eastern's Students

Panhellenic And IFC Foster Growth

Panhellenic and the Interfraternity Council served as the governing bodies of sororities and fraternities. Panhellenic's purpose was to promote, develop and maintain sorority life and inter-sorority relations. These goals were accomplished through various leadership, social service, and scholastic programs.

The Interfraternity Council provided an organization representing fraternities in all matters affecting them or the fraternity system. The Council studied various fraternity needs and problems and initiated and fostered whatever measures were appropriate to their growth, development, and welfare.

The Gamma Omicron Chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta celebrated their tenth anniversary on October 30, 1978. They represented the first National Sorority on Eastern's campus. Their tenth year proved to be a successful one. The Alpha Gams took first place in the SAE County Fair, TKE Basketball Tournament and Junior Panhellenic Superpledges; these were in addition to their first place finish in last spring's softball tournament.

One of their outstanding goals was met when the Alpha Gams donated $1100 to their National Charity, another was maintaining a 3.0 scholastic average. Other campus and community events were a part of their activities as well as all Greek sponsored events.

Founded March 8, 1968 Epsilon Chapter

President	Sally Ann Moore
First Vice-President	Cathy Flynn
Treasurer	Tammy Harris
Recording Secretary	Crystal Williams

The Epsilon Phi chapter of Alpha Delta Pi stresses the social, academic and moral advancement of its members. The academic aspect of this was realized during Spring 1978 when they had the highest G.P.A.

Social events for the chapter included taking second place in the Sigma Chi Derby, winning Derby Queen, second place in Tau Kappa Epsilon Basketball Tournament, second place in Beta Theta Pi football tournament.

They also participated in the Sigma Alpha Epsilon County Fair. During Homecoming the ADPi's and the Phi Delt's created a Homecoming Float.

Beta's Win Homecoming Float

The Delta Xi Chapter of Beta Theta Pi was active in several sports this year. They were first in football, and volleyball, were second in track and made it to the play-offs in soccer. They were also in SAE County Fair.

During Homecoming they sponsored a float with the Chi O's and won first place. Socially, they had a preference party at the Contract Lounge and Spring Formal in Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

During the first weekend of March the Beta's held their annual basketball tournament. Beta chapters from neighboring states came to Eastern to be a part of the activity, known as Beta Theta Pi Annual March.

AKA's Win Sigma Chi Derby

The Zeta Nu Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha is a nationally incorporated organization. This past year, they helped with many service projects. They bowled for Cystic Fibrosis, held a carnival for United Way and helped with the Blood Mobile Drive.

This was their first time entering the Sigma Chi Derby and they took first place.

The sorority also sponsored their annual Barbara Hunter Scholarship, which is in honor of the first black woman to receive a Masters in Chemistry.

Golf And Soccer Tournaments

The Eta Beta Chapter of Theta Chi excelled in sports this year. They won the Intramural Golf Tournament and Soccer Tournament. They took second place in football, racquetball, tennis and tug-of-war. They participated and placed in all intramural sports. The chapter also won second place in the Sigma Pi Phi Superstars.

Scholastically, the chapter had the second highest G.P.A. among Eastern's fraternities.

Service projects included Theta Chi Rally Week, in which all money earned went to the Easter Seals, participation in the Special Olympics; and they sponsored a pledge project to benefit the community.

Money For Muscular Dystrophy

The Delta Mu Chapter of Kappa Alpha Order worked closely with the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Nationally the KA's raised over $70,000, while locally they sponsored a party December 7, 1978 with the proceeds going to MDA. With the ADPI's, they held a Halloween party at Shriners Hospital.

On campus, Kappa Alpha Order participated in all sports, SAE County Fair and Sigma Pi Phi Superstars. At home football games the KA cannon could be heard celebrating Colonel touchdowns.

KA "Old South Week" was held in April and won by the Theta's. The Sharecroppers Ball was held in Gatlinburg, Tennessee. They also had a fall and spring preference party and a Homecoming Dance.

Kappa Alpha Theta Wins the Beta

The Delta Upsilon Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta takes pride on being a sorority based on scholastic, social and moral goals. Their service projects this year included contributing to their National Philanthropy and to the Jerry Lewis Telethon. They also donated to the Blood Mobile, had a clothing drive and held several study halls to benefit their pledges.

In Greek sports events the sisters of Kappa Alpha Theta had a good year. They won the Beta Theta Pi Football Tournament for the second year in a row, and participated in all other Greek events.

The Theta's held their informal dances at the Sheraton in Lexington. Their fall "Mystery Date" Formal was at Bates

The Delta Omicron Chapter of Kappa Delta celebrated their tenth-year anniversary in December. They were kept busy with their service projects, an annual visit to Shriner's Hospital, and collecting for Cystic Fibrosis and the Heart Fund. Along with the Sigma Nu's they collected for Muscular Dystrophy.

The KD pledges held their annual "Dating Game." They also participated in making a Homecoming Float with the Pikes. The chapter held their Winter Formal at Cumberland and their Spring Formal in Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

During the year the KD's participated in Sigma Chi Derby in which they won the Derby Chase. They took second place in the SAE County Fair and were also in all other Greek events.

Lambdi Chi's Are Installed

The Phi Beta Chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha was officially installed on campus as a national fraternity on October 28, 1978. After a year of hard work the charter was presented to the chapter at the Hyatt Regency by Kurt Meyer, director of expansion. The guest speaker was Murphy Osborne, grand high phi.

The Annual Watermelon Bust was held in October with many organizations and Greeks participating.

The Lambda Chi's staged a kidnapping of sorority presidents from the Phi Mu Christmas Tea. The ransom was canned goods for needy families.

Finishing the year the Lambda Chi's held their spring formal in Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

Sponsor Superstars

The Iota Province Kentucky Gamma Chapter of Pi Beta Phi sponsored their annual Sigma Pi Phi Superstars in conjunction with the brothers of Sigma Pi.

The Pi Phi's participated in various Greek events. These included SAE County Fair, Sigma Chi Derby, Beta Football, KA Old South, and TKE Basketball.

With the Brothers of Lambda Chi, the Pi Phi's had a canned food drive at Thanksgiving for needy families. They also collected for Cystic Fibrosis.

Their annual Spring Formal was held at Lansdown in Lexington. The Sheraton in Lexington was the site of the Pi Phi fall Preference Party. From November 10-13 in Gatlinburg, Tennessee the Pi Phi's held their fall formal.

Pi Kappa Alpha Serves As

The Zeta Tau chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha had a very busy year, participating in a variety of campus activities.

The Pikes began the year by distributing their Dream Girl Calendar. They also participated in all Greek and intramural sporting events, along with serving as big brothers for the Big Brothers of America Society in Lexington.

The Pikes held their annual Homecoming Dance at Tates Creek Country Club, and their Winter Formal was held in December at the Contract Lounge.

During the Spring, the Pikes had their March Founder's Day Party. They also had their Spring Formal at Fairfield Glade in Tennessee. Also, the Dream Girl Pageant was held and the Pike Calendar girls were chosen.

Intramural Championship Trophy

The Kentucky Delta chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon lost their house on Main Street this year, but did not let this bad start ruin their year. They won the All-Sports trophy by capturing first in the tennis and racquetball tournaments, and finishing well in the soccer, basketball, football and volleyball tournaments.

Socially the SAE's were busy with their Christmas Formal at the Sheraton Inn, a joint Preference Party with the brothers of Kappa Alpha in Lexington and a Spring Formal at Houston Woods in Oxford, Ohio.

Their service project was their annual collection for Cystic Fibrosis.

Sigma Nu's Make Wreaths

Tradition was a key word for the Theta Theta Chapter of Sigma Nu as they continued their practice of riding their bikes to Western. Carrying a game ball, the brothers received pledges for each mile they rode in route to the game. At Christmas, the brothers made the wreaths and greens for the Hanging of the Greens ceremony. The chapter worked side-by-side with several of the city's clubs and organizations in a massive, city-wide clean-up project in the fall.

Socially, the brothers enjoyed a formal in Gatlinburg. Homecoming was perhaps the best in the history of the chapter as dozens of alumni joined the active chapter for pre-game and post-game parties.

The latter unveiled the new dance hall in the house and was accented by a live band. Closing out the year was their annual Spring White Rose Formal.

The members fielded successful teams in all intramural sports. In the spring, they were active participants in the Phi Mu Swim-a-thon and in Greek Week.

The Epsilon Lambda Chapter of Sigma Pi had a successful year. Early in the fall, Sigma Pi placed first in the SAE County Fair. They participated in Beta's Football and Teke's Basketball tournaments. They also advanced to the playoffs in both intramural soccer and football. Also, in conjunction with the sisters of Pi Beta Phi, the Sigma Pi Phi Superstars competition was held.

Sigma Pi was also active in the field of service. They made a contribution to their charity, Shriner's Hospital, with money they earned from car washes and from their annual event, dribbling a basketball to the Morehead game. They also took the children from Model School on an Easter Egg Hunt.

The Sigma Pi's held their Homecoming dance at St. Mark's School and their spring formal at Cobbly Knob in Tennessee.

Sigma Chi's Take First

The brothers of the Eta Alpha Chapter of Sigma Chi had a fulfilling year. As always, they started the semester with their annual Sigma Chi Derby. During Halloween they sponsored their Haunted House. The proceeds from both events went to their national charity, The Wallace Village, a help center for physically and mentally handicapped children. Other service projects include a community clean-up program, and donating time and help to the Pond Christian Church.

The brothers participated in several athletic events including football, soccer, golf, tennis, basketball, volleyball and they took first place in track.

Sigma Chi's held their Winter Preference at the Ramada Imperial, their Homecoming dance at the Contract Lounge and their spring formal in Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

State Shrine Labor Day

The Beta Mu Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon celebrated their tenth anniversary on campus in February, 1979. Teke National Vice-President Rodney Williams spoke to the brothers after a reception and dinner.

The brothers were active in many service projects. They collected money for the March of Dimes, participated in a fund-raising drive for St. Jude's Hospital, and parked cars at Whitehall State Shrine.

For Homecoming the Teke's held their annual dance at the Hospitality Inn and constructed a float with the Sisters of Alpha Gamma Delta. Teke Basketball Tournament was held in December.

The Tekes participated in SAE County Fair, Sigma-Pi-Phi Superstars, where they took third place, the Beta Football Tournament, and the Phi Mu Swim-a-thon. For Greek Week the chapter hosted their annual Academic Bowl.

The Red Carnation Ball was held at Gatlinburg, Tennessee to close the year for the brothers.

The Gamma Theta Chapter of Chi Omega did well in all Greek events they entered this past year. They took first place in the sorority division in the AD Pi Greek Follies and won second place in Beta Football. They also won third place in the Sigma Chi Derby, and participated in the SAE County Fair and Lambda Chi Watermelon Bust. The Chi Omegas built a homecoming float with the Betas and won first place.

The Chi Omega's chapter service projects included their annual 'Christmas Kindness' project where they donated food and clothing to a needy Richmond family, a visit to Shriners Hospital in Lexington and various other donations to charities.

They held a "Suppressed Desires" dance in the fall at Tates Creek Country Club. Their Christmas formal was held at Gatlinburg.

Phi Beta Sigma Holds 'Sigma Week'

The Iota Delta Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma enjoyed its second year on campus. The brothers' purpose was "culture for service, service for humanity." The brothers stressed scholarship and service.

At Thanksgiving and Christmas the chapter sponsored food baskets for the needy and also in December hosted a benefit dance with proceeds going to the needy.

Sigma Week held by the brothers in April, contained a step show, a one on one basketball tournament, a fashion show, and a chapel service on Sunday.

Omega's Place Second in TKE Tourney

The Delta Sigma Chapter of Omega Psi Phi participated in several service projects this year. Among these were their annual blood drive, and Easter egg hunt and their regular contribution to NAACP. In addition, the brothers also sponsored a scholarship fund at Model High School and held an achievement week. The Omega's won second place in the TKE basketball tournament. The highlight of the year was the Omega Ball, their Spring Formal.

CLASSES OF '79

Graduation requirements are fulfilled and we move to new expectations.

*Debbie Kegley
Classus Editor*

Winter manifested itself in various ways on Eastern's campus. The snow and ice provided the ravine with crystal trees and sparkling white pathways for students to enjoy as they walked with friends.

For maintenance winter multiplied its workload. These men however, perceived the snow-laden trees as anything but wonderful. Winter for them meant clearing sidewalks, and removing branches which fell under the weight of the ice and snow covering. Unfortunately, for these men it must have seemed like a never-ending battle.

LEFT: Last year's craze was disco; "Saturday Night Fever" sparked its popularity. When "Animal House" became a hit, faddists did not discard disco; they danced on, but in different garb — the toga. The toga party scene from "Animal House" was recreated countless times in Richmond's downtown entertainment centers. This couple topped off their togas with some optional apparel as they danced through the evening.

RIGHT: The warm air and sunshine of early fall help provide a peaceful setting for studying. Here, a young co-ed takes advantage of the weather and a comfortable bench to do some homework.

At Eastern's basketball games, students like to show their enthusiasm in a variety of ways. Whether it be homemade pep signs or music-making, all of the games provide excitement.

LEFT: The Powell lounge is usually noisy, and if students want to study with a partner of the opposite sex they can rarely use their dorm rooms, so those who need to study with a partner, but still need quiet, generally wind up in the library. This couple goes over an assignment together.

Among the changes returning students found this year were the more restrictive parking regulations. It didn't take long, though, to find out the consequences of violating these rules; students learned by watching quite a few cars get hitched to a tow truck. It wasn't long before that became such a common sight that few students ever cast a second glance when the truck appeared—unless it was headed for their car.

OPPOSITE PAGE: A towman's work is never done. The boys have struck again, and some poor student is in for a surprise when he comes back for his car. LEFT: It's jobs like this that give security officers their reputation for hard-heartedness. The pained expression on this student's face shows what he thinks of his parking ticket.

In the bustle of the school year, it's nice and sometimes necessary to stop and chat with a friend. There are too many times when students are so rushed that they must walk by friends and only exchange greetings, so on those occasions when there is enough time and an available friend, students will jump at the chance to stop and talk. Even a short break like this can send students to their next class refreshed and better prepared to make it through the day.

LEFT: The bookstore is the closest and therefore, often the first place for students to begin their search for ornaments to decorate their rooms. This co-ed checks through the bookstore's stock of posters, hoping to find one she likes. ABOVE: The practice of buying votes lives on at Eastern. Campaigning for their favorite homecoming queen candidate, these gentlemen try to purchase a vote with candy—and they seem to be doing a successful job.

When the weather is agreeable, the fountain area becomes the natural setting for many outdoor activities. People come to listen to music, talk with their friends, attend the fairs, and to do all this while soaking up some sunshine. Whether the activities were planned or impromptu, they added to the richness of college life, Eastern style.

One of the biggest changes a student must face in the transition from high school to college is the change in study habits. Studying in high school is usually done at night, under the eyes of watchful parents. In college, though, schedules are different, so study hours must be different; and studying is done wherever it is most comfortable for the student. At Eastern each student has his own style of studying and some of them are quite interesting.

EDITOR'S NOTE

Being Editor of the 1979 Milestone was an exciting and rewarding job. It brought with it many hours of work and headaches but good memories are far more outstanding. Late night hours formed many friendships that otherwise we could have never experienced.

The Milestone represents the combined efforts of some very special people—my section editors. These students put in long hours to complete the pages you have just seen. Barry Miller, Copy Editor, did more than his job of proofing already written copy. He wrote much of the copy in this book and always did so without complaint. Shelley Steele, Student Life Editor, tossed many ideas around and finally successfully completed a very difficult section. Kim Burns, Academics Editor, assured me all year that her section would be done and that it was. She worked long nights at the end and produced a fine section. Sports Editor, Chris Elsberry, brags he completed his section “with no problems” and that he did it “all by himself.” Even though he seems to tell everyone about it, he is telling the truth. Jill Secrest, Organizations Editor, had her section all over the office but somehow managed to find everything she needed to finish her pages. For the second year in a row Jill’s talent is reflected in the Milestone. Classes Editor, Debbie Kegley, had many problems starting when her deadline arrived before her classes pictures did. She then had to work double time not only in her section but also in finalizing pages due from the loss of a section editor. Kim Wharton, Index Editor, had a busy schedule but managed to do the tedious job of indexing every individual in the book. Business Manager, Jim Austin, shouldered the responsibility of handling all aspects of finance and picture sales.

A very special thank you goes to former Editor, Allen Engle. He stepped in when needed and finished pages and helped me with any problems I had.

My most sincere thanks goes to advisor, Larry Bailey. I can’t say enough about how much he did or helped me. Besides advising, he also was a photographer and without him the book would still be in its planning stages.

I would also like to thank the photographers. University photographer, Paul Lambert, worked many hours shooting and printing pictures that fill these pages. He was backed by student photographers, Scott Adams, Steve Brown, Doug Fruchtenicht, and Jim Kelley. A thank you is owed to Mr. Donald Feltner and everyone in the Public Information office for everything they did. Also, I would like to thank my sorority sisters and my mother. They both helped me a great deal and stood beside me when things got rough. Last, I would like to mention Bob Anderson, Ralph Van Dyke, and Becky Alexander plus all other people at Delmar Publishing Company.

It seems there have been so many people to mention but without them this book would not be completed.

Margaret Ann Hiles

Specifications

The 1979 MILESTONE was prepared by the students of Eastern Kentucky University and printed by offset lithography by Delmar Printing Company, Charlotte, North Carolina.

The paper stock is 80-pound Westvaco Coronation dull offset stock; with the fencefold printed on 100-pound stock.

The cover is a brown Cordoba with a black overtone. Book title and date are top foil stamped, with the design and backbone blind embossed.
